

Switch on Tapes Blunts Impeachment Talk

Nixon Cancels TV Speech Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, reported concentrating on Middle East developments, canceled plans for tonight's address to the nation on Watergate and instead scheduled a broadcast news conference for 9 p.m. EDT Thursday.

The White House announced the change of plans less than two hours after Nixon returned from an overnight stay at Camp David, Md., where he reportedly devoted all his time to a consideration of Middle East developments.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon decided upon a news conference in the East Room of the White House to handle questions about the Watergate tapes crisis because he did not have time to prepare a speech to the nation.

Warren also noted that a news conference could deal with inquiries about the search for an Arab-Israeli peace as well as Nixon's handling of the Watergate tapes crisis.

Warren said Nixon spent all of Tuesday evening at Camp David conferring by telephone with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and others on the attempt to arrange a firm Middle East cease-fire.

Nixon met personally with Kissinger today following his return from Camp David and Warren said he would be devoting the balance of the day to the subject of the Middle East.

Meanwhile, President Nixon's promise to surrender nine Watergate tapes has blunted an impeachment initiative, but hasn't stilled calls for a new special prosecutor.

Today, the House of Representatives continued a preliminary impeachment inquiry begun just before Nixon's law- yers announced the tapes would be given to a federal judge.

House leaders said the probe would continue at least until the effects of Nixon's action be- come known.

It was clear, however, that the initial reaction to the Presi- dent's reversal was favorable.

Wall Street's Dow-Jones in- dustrial average jumped 17 points in less than an hour on news of Nixon's decision.

It was a day of surprising events. Here is where things stood when the dust settled:

—U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica was scheduled soon to begin reviewing the nine tapes of Nixon's private conversa- tions about the Watergate scan- dal. These are tapes that spe- cial prosecutor Archibald Cox had sought before he was fired.

Sirica will listen to them in private and decide what, if any, parts of them should be pre- sented to a grand jury. They likely will become public this way only if presented as evi- dence at a trial.

—The Senate Watergate com- mittee was back in court fight- ing its own separate, uphill battle for the tapes. Sirica had ruled that the committee, un- like Cox, had no legal authority to use the courts to get the tapes.

Previously, it appeared the committee had struck a deal with the White House and said he still favored a new spe- cial prosecutor, to be named either by Sirica or by Congress.

—Cox himself vowed to re- main in Washington for the time being. "I know all citizens will be happy, as I am, that the President wisely chose to re- spect the rule of law," he said.

—Also in doubt was whether Nixon would supply tapes sought in the Vesco case. For- mer Cabinet members John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans face trial in New York on charges interfering with a gov- ernment investigation in return for a secret $200,000 campaign contribution from financier Robert L. Vesco.

Nixon apparently reached his eventual decision after being told that House Republicans would not defend him strongly unless he turned over the tapes.

Reliable sources said impor- tant GOP congressmen, in- cluding John B. Anderson of Il- linois, John J. Rhodes of Ari- zona and Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, gave that word to pre- sidential counselor Bryce Harlow at a meeting Tuesday morning.

Before that, Nixon had in- tended to fight the matter by claiming he had settled the dis- pute out of court by firing his adversary, Cox.

Papers had been filed with Sirica. But, at noon, Nixon in- formed his chief courtroom lawyer, Charles Alan Wright, that he would produce the tapes.

—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the decision to release the White House tapes would deflate congressional impeachment moves. Humphrey would settle for an edited tran- script of the tapes, authenti- cated by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

Factors cited in Nixon's decision to release tapes; reasons why Archibald Cox insisted on taking tapes case to court and House panel to go ahead with impeachment inquiry. Stories and related photo on page 40.

But the panel appealed to the U.S. Circuit Court for full ac- cess, denied that it had made any deal not to continue the suit, and told Nixon there ap- peared to be confusion about the terms of the compromise agreement.

After that, and after Nixon gave in on the tapes Cox had sought, the White House with- drew its offer to the committee.

—Crucial questions remained unanswered about the future of the Justice Department's newly inherited inquiries into the Wa- tergate and related matters. It wasn't known if prosecutors would be allowed to get any presidential tapes or papers be- sides those Nixon agreed to give Sirica.

There also were reports that the staff of the special prose- cution force was prepared to resign as a group.

peachment moves. Humphrey would settle for an edited tran- script of the tapes, authenti- cated by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

Immense Relief Felt by Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Thank God," Sen. Barry M. Goldwater said. "It is an immense relief..." added Sen. George S. McGovern.

Goldwater, R-Ariz., and McGovern, D-S.D., who repre- sent opposite ends of the political spectrum, were ex- pressing the general reaction of Congress Tuesday following President Nixon's surprise deci- sion to surrender his secret Watergate tape recordings to the courts.

But many of those same lawmakers also said some sort of congressional action should be taken in light of the tapes controversy and other Water- gate-related issues. Much of the sentiment centered on appoint- ment of a new Watergate prosecutor who would be guaranteed freedom from ad- ministration control.

Word of Nixon's abrupt change of stance on the emotional tapes issue came shortly after eight impeach- ment resolutions were intro- duced in the House and Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Commit- tee, announced that he would immediately set in motion the machinery for a full impeach- ment inquiry by his 38-member panel.

Rodino and House Democrat- ic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., said later the inquiry would still begin as planned.

"There is no doubt that the President in turning over the tapes today has put a damper on the fire of impeachment,"

O'Neill said. "But in no way, in my opinion, has it completely halted congressional action."

my opinion, has it completely halted congressional action."

See Editorial Page 6.

"It's certainly not the tapes alone," O'Neill said, referring to "the payments to buy silence of Watergate defendants," the Ellsberg break-in and whether Nixon's firing of Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox Sat- urday was an obstruction of jus- tice.

The House leadership also agreed to give priority to Judiciary Committee hearings on Gerald R. Ford's nomination as vice president.

Speaker Carl Albert said at a news conference that "the House should not hold the nomination of the vice president designate hostage as it later in a speech in Richmond, considers matters related to Va. that Congress must im- peach Nixon "to make America safe for democracy."

In the Senate, liberals on the Judiciary Committee said they still hope to launch a probe into the ouster of Cox.

At the same time, Democrat- ic Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Philip A. Hart of Michigan said they would introduce a bill which R-Md.: "The Constitution and would recreate the post of common sense have prevailed, special prosecutor under the authority of U.S. District Court understands both."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.: Nixon's decision "appears defeated by Nixon in last year's to purge him of any contempt presidential election, said "it is an immense relief that the President has decided, even tardily, to comply with Judge Sirica's order, as affirmed by the Court of Appeals."

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif.: "The President's conces- sion... is a step back from a dark and uncertain abyss."

McGovern, however, said

Israel Charges New Egyptian Attack

By United Press International

Israel charged that Egypt broke the cease-fire again today along the southern Suez Canal just as the truce was taking hold on all fronts of the Middle East war.

As United Nations observers sped to the fronts to try to preserve the truce, an Israeli announcement said the Egyptian Third Army was trying to break out of its encirclement on both banks of the canal. It said 15 Egyptian planes were shot down and fighting was con- tinuing.

Israel and Egypt continued to trade charges in addition to the shots. In sharply contrasting pictures of the situation, Israel claimed Egypt's army was disintegrating in surrenders and Egypt claimed control of most of the Suez Canal.

Egypt charged Israeli viola- tions of the cease-fire with Egyptian troops being forced to respond.

After another United Nations resolution, punctuated by some of the bitterest exchanges in the history of the world organization, the cease-fire had gone into effect for the second time at 7 a.m.

The Israeli command said that the Third Egyptian Army, in the sector between Ismailia and Suez city, had been encircled by its forces on the west bank of the canal inside

Egypt proper. It had previously accused the army's commander, Maj. Gen. Abdul Munem Wazel, of instigating the fighting that broke the cease-fire the first time on Tuesday.

On the other fronts of the war, on the northern end of the canal and in Syria, the truce appeared to be holding. There was widespread uncertainty of what happens next. Nor was there any word how the peace talks specified in the United Nations truce resolution sponsored by the United States and Russia will take place.

Before the latest Israeli announcement, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said in an interview on the Israeli national radio:

"I hope we've come to the end of the fighting in this campaign. Syria has already agreed to the cease-fire. What remains of the Egyptian army is not able to answer in war. Therefore, the cease-fire is not only formal but also substan- tial."

The Israelis, in a picture that contrasted with Cairo's, said their forces had cut off the port of Suez, thus severing Egypt's sea links with Asia and its supply of oil.

Reserve Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, an Israeli military spokesman, claimed that encir- cled Egyptian units were surrendering en masse with "whole units disintegrating and disappearing."

At 1 p.m., the Egyptian military command charged that Israel tried in vain to cut the road to Suez city and tried to bring up reinforcements from across the waterway for its troops on the west bank. Under cover of artillery fire, the Egyptians said, Israel tried to grab new positions and Egyptian forces were forced to open fire.

Earlier, an Egyptian military spokesman said Israeli forces infiltrated across the Bitter Lakes as far south as the area of the port of Adabiyya.

But he said Egypt was in "complete control" of most of the east bank of the canal and the greater part of the west bank except where Israeli forces had "infiltrated."

A lengthy official statement issued five hours after the second cease fire went into effect gave this summary of positions on the Suez Canal front this morning:

—Egyptian forces are in complete control of the east bank for 145 miles from Ras Mesilla to Port Fuad for a depth of 3.5 to 13 miles except for a 4.5-mile breach near Deversoir and the Bitter Lakes.

—Israeli forces are scattered and mixed with Egyptian forces in a number of west bank areas up to Adabiyya.

—Israeli forces tried after this morning's cease-fire to cut the road to Suez but were prevented from doing so.

Appeals Court Orders New Trial

Reversal for Culhane, McGivern

By MATT SPIRENG

ALBANY In a unanimous decision Tuesday, the State Court of Appeals ordered a new trial for two men convicted in Ulster County Court in 1971 on charges of murdering a deputy sheriff during an alleged escape at- tempt on the New York State Thruway near Plattekill.

The state's highest court reversed the conviction of Charles Culhane, 27, and Gerald McGivern, 28, who had been sentenced to die in the electric chair for the 1968 shooting of a Westchester County deputy sheriff.

The State Court of Appeals ruled that four prospective jurors, including two corrections officers, who were excused because of defendants' peremptory challenges should have been excused on other grounds.

The appeals judges said that because the defendants' peremptory challenges were exhausted before the jury selection was complete, the trial should be thrown out.

In a written opinion issued Tuesday, Associate Judge Sol

Wachtler noted that the two corrections officers and two other men told the court during jury selection that they had read newspaper accounts of the case and had formed opinions on the defendants' guilt. These jurors should have been excused for cause, Wachtler wrote.

He also recommended a change of location for the new trial: "... given the very localized and incessant nature of the prejudicial publicity surrounding this case, it probably would have been advisable and fairly easy to avoid this problem by trans- ferring the case to a nearby venue in the first instance," he stated.

Lawyers for McGivern and Culhane had appealed for a change of venue to State Supreme Court in Albany following the first trial, claiming their clients could not get a fair trial in Ulster County because of unfavorable pre-trial publicity.

At that time the court unanimously rejected the plea and said the accused would have to be tried in Ulster County Court.

When the second trial began, the jury was chosen from a panel of 125 prospective jurors. A penalty trial was held following the Jan. 26, 1971 conviction of McGivern and Culhane, and the two were sentenced to death Feb. 19, 1971.

They were sentenced to death under the state's statute, which provides that capital punishment can be imposed only in the slaying of a law en- forcement officer.

However, that statute was declared unconstitutional by the State Court of Appeals in a June 6 ruling, which said that the statute was unconstitutional because it gave the jury the discretion of when the death sentence would be imposed, which contradicts the strict standards of application called for in a 1972 U.S. Supreme Court ruling against vague capital punishment laws.

Judge Wachtler said that in view of the previous decision on the death penalty law, "we should—as a minimum—re-mand this case for resentencing."

However, on the other grounds, the high court com- pletely reversed the decision and ordered the retrial.

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt, whose office prosecuted McGivern and Culhane in the previous trials, declined to comment on the high court's ruling until he sees a copy of the written decision.

Debrosky Answers Klein's Charges

ROSENDALE Republican County Legislator Glenn Debrosky of Dist. 7 (Rosendale-Esopus) took exception today to what he calls "charges leveled at me by my Democratic opponent Legislator Louis Klein of giving 'lip service' to curbing property taxes by voting against two of his resolutions."

Debrosky labeled Klein's charges "decoy tactics" adding "Let's look at the record." "It was Klein who voted himself a $2,000 raise. It was Klein who voted for the budget that will have a $3 million surplus. It was I who called for a 'taxpayer's revolt' which the people responded to and which led to the defeat of this unwarranted raise."

Debrosky said the two resolutions Klein refers to concern a local law protecting purchasers of real property and another to create an Industrial Development Commission.

"The county already has an Industrial Development Committee," Debrosky said.

"Another commission would tend to slow down procedural matters and not save taxes as Klein would lead one to believe. It is just more 'election flak,' he said.

Debrosky voted against the real property proposal because he felt it would be discriminatory toward the new owner to solely assess on the purchase price and that the assessment should be based on comparable assessments of parcels in the area.

He said he contacted Henry Wyluda, an attorney for the State Assessors Office, and learned that the county has no legislative authority to change assessment procedure in the general state law.

"If the resolution had been adopted it would have had no effect whatever," Debrosky said adding, that "Klein as an attorney himself should have known the state statute would have to be amended before a local law was legal."

Debrosky also pointed out that the Ulster County Assessor's Association was against the proposal. "I feel my 'no' vote was justified and the only legal recourse," he said.

Debrosky suggested that

"Klein's tactics cause him to wonder if his denial of support to run as a Republican, or his losing the Conservative Party nomination has caused him to run as a scared candidate. He attacks others with half-truths instead of running on his own record."

The three-term legislator said he will campaign on his record and will stick to the issues. "The people do not deserve the cheap personal attacks sometimes found in campaigns, they do deserve the views of each legislator. It would be nice to hear Klein's record from Klein," he concluded.

Deputies Press Search for Man

KINGSTON Ulster County Sheriff's deputies are pressing their search for Victor (Loco) Martinez, 26, who escaped from a farm in Shawangunk on Sunday while working in the county's work release program.

A second man, Joseph

Fassino, 18, also escaped with Martinez but was captured Tuesday afternoon by Woodstock constables and turned over to the sheriff's department.

Both men face charges of absconding, second degree, a misdemeanor.

According to Sheriff's deputies, Martinez and Fassino were working on the Blue Chip Horse Farm in Shawangunk on Sunday but were missing when deputies went there at around 5 p.m. Sunday to return them to the County Jail. Deputies said the pair stole a truck to make good their escape. The truck was later recovered in Tenafly, N.J.

Martinez, who was in jail for criminal trespass, second degree, is described as five-foot-seven-inches in height and weighing 170 pounds. He speaks Sunday but were missing when

UN Passes Peace Resolution Amid Angry Shouting Matches

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. Security Council, in a meeting marred by angry shouting matches, adopted a second resolution on the Middle East cease-fire Tuesday and asked for U.N. truce teams to supervise it.

The resolution called on all combatants in the 1973 Middle East war to pull back to the positions they occupied when the first truce went into effect Monday.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim later announced that three teams of U.N. truce supervisors were sent to the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal and said others would go to the Israeli side.

In Tel Aviv, a military communique said Israeli forces were ordered to stop fighting on the Egyptian front at 7 a.m. (1 a.m. EDT) today.

Waldheim also announced that Syria had agreed to the cease-fire on the condition that Israel withdraw to the boundaries in effect before the six-day 1967 war.

After hours of behind-the-scenes diplomatic wrangling, the Security Council adopted the new resolution by a 14-0 vote, with China not voting.

Unlike the first resolution, the latest one also provided for truce observer teams to monitor the new cease-fire. Truce teams were evacuated from the Suez Canal when the fighting erupted 19 days ago.

The resolution approved Tuesday night, like the one adopted early Monday, was a joint U.S.-Soviet draft.

Debate on the resolution touched off one of the bitterest shouting matches in the council's history, with the Chinese deputy foreign minister and the Soviet ambassador trading insults.

When Soviet Ambassador Yakov Malik took the podium to call for a vote on the resolution, Chinese Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua insisted on speaking.

Malik began shouting "point of order" and asked Council President Sir Laurence McIntyre of Australia for an immediate vote.

"This is unreasonable, Mr.

President," Chiao said. "Why should he have such a privilege?"

McIntyre tried to make a ruling, but Chiao, now angry, shouted across the horseshoe-shaped table at the Soviet delegate: "Mr. Malik, do not interrupt me."

Other delegates began shouting and screaming across the room. McIntyre then gavelled the table and ordered the session suspended for 20 minutes.

Supply Routes Reportedly Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli forces may have cut off the major part of the dwindling Egyptian army in the Sinai from its source of supplies in Egypt, U.S. military analysts said. They believe this could dangerously weaken Egyptian forces on the east bank of the Suez Canal if a new cease-fire announced early today does not last.

Before the announcement of the new peace attempt, U.S. military officials said the fighting between the Israelis and Egyptians never stopped after a cease-fire was supposed to have ended the shooting Monday.

It is not clear from reports available here whether either side ever abided by the earlier cease-fire.

The Israelis, who pushed an armored task force across the Suez Canal in a surprise stroke more than a week ago, are said to have cut vital railroad and highway lines between Cairo and two key cities, Ismailia and Suez, from which supplies have been fed to Egyptian troops in the Sinai.

Unless the Egyptians can reopen those lines, or improve some other routes, their infantry and armor on the east bank of the canal may run low on ammunition and other supplies, U.S. military experts said. Meanwhile, reports to the Pentagon tell of a gradual movement of Egyptian troops back across the canal from the Sinai. This started late last week, officials said.

U.S. military authorities stressed that the Egyptian army still was fighting and had not collapsed.

From the tactical point of view, American military men criticized Egyptian command-ers for failing to react quickly to the Israeli thrust across the canal into Egypt.

U.S., Soviet Officials Want Lasting Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once the Sinai fighting stops, American and Soviet diplomatic efforts will be concentrated on finding a way to bring Israel and Egypt together to negotiate a lasting Middle East settlement.

Senior U.S. officials say Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev did not agree on either a forum or a formula during their Moscow meeting.

Instead, their efforts were directed toward ending the fighting. While they talked about a slowdown in current arms shipments, there was no decision to halt them over the long run.

Prodding Israel, Egypt and Jordan to the bargaining table has been probably the toughest problem in the 25-year search for a settlement.

Israel is skeptical of working through the United Nations where it has few friends. The United States has offered its "good offices," but Israel and the Arab states have been snarled in preconditions for negotiations.

A first cease-fire agreement was reached Monday and another was announced by the Israeli military command early today.

Meanwhile, Kissinger's pre-occupation with the Middle East caused him to postpone, probably for weeks, the visit to China he was to have undertaken beginning today.

The secretary of state will appear Thursday before the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The closed session will be the first briefing for Congress since his Moscow mission.

was reached Monday and another was announced by the Israeli military command early today.

Meanwhile, Kissinger's pre-occupation with the Middle East caused him to postpone, probably for weeks, the visit to China he was to have undertaken beginning today.

The secretary of state will appear Thursday before the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The closed session will be the first briefing for Congress since his Moscow mission.

Several Killed and Hurt In Jersey Turnpike Crashes

KEARNY, N.J. (UPI) — At least 14 persons were injured and an undetermined number reported killed today in a series of chain-reaction accidents on the northern New Jersey Turnpike in heavy fog and smoke.

Officials at North Hudson Hospital in Weehawken said at least eight persons were brought there for treatment. A spokesman in the emergency room at Christ Hospital in Jersey City said it had treated at least six persons.

State police in Newark said troopers were forced to walk to disabled vehicles on the turnpike. They would not say how many persons had been killed.

"We're not going to give out anything because we don't know anything ourselves. Our men are walking out there themselves because they can't drive on the turnpike," an unidentified sergeant said.

Most of the accidents appeared to be concentrated in the Kearny, Hackensack, Bergen and Rutherford areas.

Police said emergency vehicles at first "couldn't find the accidents" because of heavy fog and smoke conditions.

Many emergency vehicles were held up at the turnpike entrances until "someone could find out where an accident was," police said.

At daylight, police and other rescue officials began rushing the injured to hospitals while tow trucks began clearing the roadway.

Officials said it would take hours before the turnpike could be reopened.

It was the second major accident to occur on the highway in less than a week.

Last Friday, a tractor-trailer truck blew a tire and slammed into a Greyhound bus and a car, killing eight persons and injuring 11.

The National Transportation Safety Board plans to look into that accident.

The Jersey Turnpike runs the length of the state from the New York state line to Delaware.

Letters to the Editor

Family Tree

Editor, The Freeman:

I hope you have a place in your newspaper to insert the following:

In tracing the family tree of my son's grandmother, Lena Dell Simmons Barker, born in Olive as the youngest of 13 children of Abraham Dudley Simmons and Ann Eliza Lane, I need some more information and would like to hear from descendants of the following (substantiated by family bible records):

William I. Lane, born 1 Jan. 1897, died 26 Sept. 1846 and Mariah Lane, born Montross, born 28 Mar. 1799, died 1 June 1876, William Lane and Mariah Montross married 29 Nov. 1821.

Their daughter, Sarah Lane, born 18 Sept. 1822, married Caleb van Velson 14 Nov. 1839.

Their son, John W. Lane, born 13 Apr. 1826, married Catherine Dunegan 15 June 1849 (or Donegan?).

A son, Alonzo, died unmarried. Anneliza Lane, born 10 Sept. 1834 (as mentioned above), married Abraham Dudley Simmons (born 16 May 1823) on 2 Oct. 1850.

Mrs. Sickler, town of Olive historian, mentioned that AD Simmons sold some 40 acres of land in 1884 to Robert Secor.

I would appreciate getting some information on AD Simmons' parents, on Mariah Montross' parents and William I. Lane's parents.

AD Simmons with his family moved to Kansas around 1890 and one of his daughters, now 91 years old, still lives in Hillsboro, Texas, where the family moved to around 1900.

Sincerely,
MRS. GERDA HOLDER

Richard M. Nixon, President
White House
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

Like many others, I would like to believe that you are completely removed from the improprieties of the Watergate Affair and its cover-up. This is now difficult, if not impossible.

I have the greatest respect for the Office of President. Your actions within the past 48 hours directed to the White House tapes and other documents, however, have now completely destroyed my confidence in its incumbent.

Your ultimate acts resulting in the resignation of Attorney General Richardson, the firing of Deputy Attorney General Ruckelshaus, followed by the discharge of Special Prosecutor Cox, destroying as it seems to do, the concept of separation of powers as between the Executive Branch and the Justice Department, smacks of dictatorship.

A frightened American,
ARTHUR B. EWIG

Anti-Semitism

Editor, The Freeman:

I just listened to a repeated broadcast of the meeting at Old Dutch Church. Rabbi Eichhorn was not able to answer a woman who was full of inaccurate information. (She did not have the time to listen to Rabbi Eichhorn answers).

My husband and I were fortunate to be able to visit Israel last year. We went with a large mixed group of people from all over North America. Jews and Gentiles.

We spoke to many an Arab who didn't look any different from his Jewish neighbors. They don't want to go back under Arab rule. Their standards of living were never so high, their children were never so well educated and their health and dental programs are such as they never had before. The only freedom they do not have is that they are not able to serve in the Armed Forces.

As far as her reference to the Jaffa orange, we saw bus loads after bus loads of Arabs being transported to the orange groves and watched them crate oranges faster than machines. Sure there was a Jaffa orange before the State of Israel but not in such abundance as now.

As far as the word Zionism, that is not a dirty word as used by some. It is a movement to secure the Jewish return to the Land of Israel. Just that and no more. This term was coined in 1893 by Nathan Birnbaum, but expressed aspirations as ancient as the Babylonian Exile.

Why, oh why, can't people leave Israel and her people alone to build in their land of milk and honey?

This meeting really showed up some of our own brand of Kingstonian anti-Semites.

Sincerely,
ANN HOROWITZ

Schenectady Nobel Winner Cites 'Luck'

By LAURENCE McQUILLAN

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI)

Ivar Giaever's face took on a serious expression as he nodded his head up and down gently before giving his reason why he was named co-winner of the 1973 Nobel prize for physics. "I've always been lucky."

He then went on to explain that he has a "wonderful wife and family," good health and a good job—all because of luck.

"I've always been lucky, really. My brother's that way too. In fact, my brother and I compete to see which one can be luckier," the 44-year-old researcher said Tuesday with just a trace of an accent from his native Norway.

A naturalized American, Giaever works at the General Electric Research and Development Center here, along with many of GE's other top scientific minds.

He talks highly of his colleagues and with humility about himself. "There are a lot of people around here who are smarter than I am, but things just worked out right for me," Giaever said earnestly about the announcement that he was one of three men honored by the Nobel Committee.

The other co-winners were Leo Esaki, employed at IBM's Yorktown Heights laboratory in Westchester County, and Brian Josephson of England.

Giaever began his career as a mechanical engineer and worked as a government patent examiner in his native Norway.

In 1955, he joined General Electric and moved to Canada. After a transfer here in 1956, he worked as an applied mathematician but soon tired of it. "You know," he said with a smile, "when you first get your degree you have visions of being like a butterfly and coming out of your cocoon with all this beauty. It doesn't work that way."

In Schenectady, his interest soon wandered over into physics and he began working on a doctorate at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy. At the same time, he joined GE's physics section and spent some five years working in the area which led to his Nobel prize.

Giaever said he first heard he had won the award from a friend, but the friend didn't have details. His next call was from UPI, and he waited with interest for more of the Nobel dispatch from Stockholm to appear on the UPI wires.

"Yes, yes, that's right," he said as a reporter read him a description of the citation by the Swedish Academy of Sciences.

Giaever said he hoped he had a possibility of winning the Nobel award—but that "It's like buying a New York State lottery ticket; you don't really think you have a chance to win."

Admitting that his accomplishment was "difficult to explain," he said "What I have done is marrying tunneling to superconductivity."

The process of "tunneling" involves taking a substance that is an insulator and "making it sufficiently thin to conduct electricity," Giaever said. Superconductors are metals and alloys which have no electrical resistance and unusual magnetic properties at low temperatures. The scientist said the work required temperatures of 460 degrees Fahrenheit below zero.

Thus far, there has been no practical application of his work—though others are trying to apply the knowledge to computers.

Giaever said that aspect of his work probably had the most to do with his leaving pure physics. "I switched over to bio-physics about three years ago because it has more practical results," he said. His latest work has included the analyzing blood samples.

"I like biology," Giaever said. "When to do something you can cure people."

Tho's Official Rejection Sent

OSLO (UPI) — The Nobel

Peace Prize Committee waited today for official word from Hanoi before deciding what to do about North Vietnamese peace negotiator Le Duc Tho's refusal to accept this year's award.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency (VNA), in a broadcast monitored in Hong Kong, said Tho—who shared the 1973 Nobel Peace Prize with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger—rejected the award Monday in a message to Nobel Committee Chairman Mrs. Aase Lionaes.

Mrs. Lionaes said Tuesday night she had not received the letter and would not comment before I have read the letter.

Tho and Kissinger were awarded the peace prize Oct. 16 for their work in obtaining the Jan. 28 Vietnam cease-fire. But the truce has been a shaky one and last week, the Saigon government released statistics showing that more Vietnamese have died in battle since the truce took effect than the number of U.S. servicemen killed in the entire war.

The VNA broadcast quoted Tho's letter as saying he could not yet accept the prize because peace in Vietnam has not been fully restored.

"Peace has not really been re-established in South Vietnam," Tho was quoted as saying.

"Under these conditions, it is impossible for me to accept the 1973 Nobel Peace Prize. When the Paris agreement on Vietnam is respected, guns are silenced, and peace really restored in South Vietnam, I will consider acceptance of this prize."

A high-level Norwegian government official who insisted he not be named said Tho's wording could be "a helping hand to Henry Kissinger who may now be expected to decline the prize on similar grounds."

In Washington Tuesday, however, a State Department spokesman said Kissinger still intended to go to Oslo Dec. 10 to receive his half of the $122,000 prize, a gold medal and diploma from King Olav V.

Awarding of the prize to Tho and Kissinger touched off a storm of controversy. The Norwegian press, Parliament, and Norway's ruling Labor government were highly critical of the move and two of the five Nobel Committee members point to it and say it is helping

Men Get Hearing In Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, which of late has interested itself in women's rights, has finally turned its attention to discrimination against men.

On Tuesday the court granted a hearing to a Miami widower, Mel Kahn, who is challenging part of Florida's tax law. The statute grants a $500 property tax exemption to widows but not widowers.

Kahn contended he was denied the benefit of the law solely because he is a man. The case will be heard in the high court in the next few months.

At the same time the court turned back to a lower court the case of two married women who charged sex discrimination in hiring against the Edwin L. Wiegand Co. in Pittsburgh.

Tuesday's actions, the final ones for the October sessions, included a dissent by four justices from obscenity standards established by the court last term.

Justice William O. Douglas, speaking for the four, said "every author, every bookseller, every movie exhibitor, and perhaps, every librarian is now at the mercy of the local police force's conception of what appeals to the 'prurient interest' or is 'patently offensive.'"

He was joined by Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall. The court returned a number of cases on the subject to lower courts for another look in light of the new standards.

It dismissed for want of a proper federal question a challenge to a New York state law which provides that a person who sells obscene material in the course of his business is presumed to know its contents.

The court agreed to hear cases of Howard B. Levy, the Brooklyn, N.Y., dermatologist who refused to train Army medics for Vietnam, and Benjamin A. DeChristoforo, convicted of murder in Boston. DeChristoforo was granted a new trial on the ground of an unfair summation by the prosecutor. Massachusetts appealed.

By JACK ANDERSON
and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON—The Internal Revenue Service, which has made life miserable for Democratic National Chairman Larry O'Brien with its audits of his taxes, has now moved against his successor, hard-working Robert Strauss. Strauss, a wealthy, outspoken Texan who is now rallying the Democrats for a fight against the Republicans in the 1974 and 1976 elections, became the subject of an IRS examination about a month ago.

Though sure his taxes are in order, Strauss told his accountants to cooperate with the tax agents. We have learned they are studying the Strauss returns for 1970, 1971 and 1972. The IRS office in Dallas is handling the examination, but Democratic friends of Strauss feel it was approved, if not instigated in Washington.

Coming as it does at the same time that the IRS is probing 1968 standard-bearer Hubert Humphrey's finances, these Democrats remain unconvinced that the Strauss probe is non-political.

They point to testimony in the Watergate case that the White House repeatedly tried to use the IRS as a political weapon. Now that the Administration can safely cite ex-Vice President Spiro Agnew as evidence of non-partisanship in the IRS, the Democrats are fearful they will once again become fair game.

Humphrey's trouble with the tax men, for example, has come over testimony by a Howard Hughes emissary that he delivered $50,000 in cash to Humphrey in 1968. But the Minnesota Senator has told us it is his returns for 1970, 1971 and 1972 that the IRS seems most interested in. Meanwhile, the White House has said President Nixon is "confident" that his crony, C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo "acted in the proper fashion" in accepting a $100,000 cash "contribution" for Nixon from billionaire Howard Hughes.

Strauss, while no more happy than any other American to have the IRS in his files, has taken the view that the Administration is innocent of political hatchwork unless proven different.

"It is a fact that the IRS has been working with my accountant concerning the last few years," Strauss told us. "So far as I know the inquiry is routine. My accountant says the tax returns are in good order. There is no reason to suspect political motives at this time."

At the IRS, a spokesman refused even to acknowledge the probe of Strauss' returns, much less to comment on whether it was instigated or approved by Washington.

BELLA THE DIPLOMAT—Congress' militant Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., is regarded by colleagues and constituents alike as a two-fisted, hard-cursing floor fighter who wins her way withchutzpa.

But the outspoken Ms. Abzug used the softness of a pussycat and the suavity of an Ivy League diplomat in negotiating the freedom of internationally known legal scholar Mme. Ngo Ba Thanh who was locked up by the Saigon regime in 1971.

A few weeks ago, while part of a hard-working Congressional anti-narcotics team in Southeast Asia, Ms. Abzug dropped in on the family of Mme. Thanh, who like the Congresswoman is an alumna of Columbia University Law School. The family's disclosures sent her determinedly to U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin.

"The family fears for her life," Ms. Abzug quietly informed the courtly Martin. "She's suffering from asthma. Her hair is falling out. She's been on a hunger strike."

Martin murmured his sympathies. Ms. Abzug persistently went on:

"Look, Mr. Ambassador, her fate is of concern to women all over the world."

Martin nodded agreement and replied, "We're working on the case. Leave it to me. You'll be hearing from me in September."

When Martin returned to the U.S. for consultation, Ms. Abzug renewed her requests to him four times. Each time, Martin promised action. Finally, her persistence paid off. Mme. Thanh was freed.

MOTH MENACE—A battle over the hairy, fast-breeding tussock moth is raging within the government, with the Environmental Protection Agency squared off against the Forest Service.

The nasty insects have been chewing the needles off fir trees throughout the Northwest, leaving forests subject to fires. Only DDT, it seems, stops the gnawers. But the Sierra Club opposes DDT spraying because it kills wild life, fish and birds along with bugs.

So far, the EPA has sided with the conservationists who insist that the plague will die off automatically and that a single loophole on DDT restriction would be exploited nationwide by greedy timber barons. For a change, however, the timber men have produced some reasonable arguments, and EPA's head, Russell Train, is faced with a Hobson's choice.

Nixon's Vital Decision

President Nixon's dramatic decision to release the secret Watergate recordings to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica allowed the nation to collectively let out its breath. The President's action which had been urged upon him for many months by some of his most trusted advisors such as Melvin Laird, was the only action that Mr. Nixon could have taken.

The effect of firing Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox, who was guaranteed a free hand when he undertook the role of investigating Watergate and the subsequent resignation of the highly regarded Elliot Richardson as Attorney-General had a greater backlash throughout the nation than the brain trust at the White House had anticipated.

Disregarding the expected clatter of inveterate Nixon-haters in the Congress, there was also strong indications of bi-partisan resentment against what was felt to be Mr. Nixon's high-handed and arbitrary handling of the whole Watergate affair. The calls for impeachment in Washington were getting stronger, both from political partisans and reasonable men—and the country was undergoing one of its severest constitution crisis.

The President had tenaciously clung to his position, exposing himself to the mounting attacks of his enemies, in the belief that the tapes and their contents came under the blanket of executive privilege, as would any confidential papers. Mr. Nixon said he regarded the matter as one of separation of the executive branch from that of the judiciary and the legislative. His critics claimed he was hiding something and was using dictatorial methods to protect himself.

Perhaps the contents of the tapes will tell who was right. But as proved in so many aspects of the Watergate mess, the Freeman is not flatly predicting anything.

Cut Meat Prices

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz gave vent to an angry blast in Washington the other day. Since the price of choice steers dropped in Omaha from a high of $56 a hundredweight in August to $42 today—a $14 a hundred-weight drop or 15 per cent—the price of beef at the supermarket has not reflected this very sharp drop.

Speaking to the National Association of Food Chains, Butz said they were practicing "catch-up pricing policies," trying to recover from last summer's profit squeeze.

He warned them that if they did not pass to consumers the recent sharp reductions in meat prices, they might lead to consumer boycotts or further price controls.

Butz told the supermarket executives that supplies of live cattle and hogs had increased since the price freeze ended. He added that consumers and farmers deserve some assurance that consumers will benefit generally from these decreased prices, so that neither farmers nor chain stores will again be forced to the imposition of further price controls or boycotts.

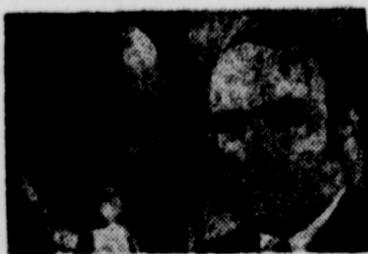

The outspoken Butz was just as passionate in support of the consumer as he usually is in support of the farmer. The farmer had brought cattle to market at lower prices. Now, it's the consumer's turn to get the benefit.

19TH CENTURY BLOCK SAVED—To keep history real for the growing generation and "to save Charleston's famous skyline of church spires," a group of Charleston, S. WASHINGTON — Behind the delayed approval of Rep. Gerald Ford as Vice President is a fantastic but deadly serious effort by fire-eating liberal Democratic Congressmen to block him indefinitely, impeach President Nixon and hand the presidency to Democratic Speaker Carl Albert.

That maximum goal is not likely to be achieved. Although they have pushed the House Democratic caucus well leftward, these highly ideological, highly partisan liberals still constitute a distinct minority. Nevertheless, they may well achieve their minimum goal of delaying Ford's approval until the question of Mr. Nixon's surrender of the surreptitious White House tape recordings is resolved.

Thus, final action on Ford could be stalled until the next congressional session in January. Neither Speaker Albert nor most House Democrats want this. But the Speaker has proved consistently unwilling to oppose the left-wing fire-eaters in his party's caucus. What makes this personally embarrassing for Albert is his status as a heartbeat from the presidency so long as Ford's approval is delayed.

Immediately following Mr. Nixon's selection of Ford Oct. 12, the House seemed sure to approve their old colleague quickly. Any trouble seemed more likely to come from the Senate, where desultory talk of delay on Ford emerged from the Oct. 13 Democratic caucus — hardly enough to concern the White House.

However, Albert and other House Democratic leaders were peeved by forecasts that the House would rubberstamp old crony Gerry Ford in contrast to a thorough Senate investigation. Hence, at the closed door caucus of House Democrats Wednesday, Oct. 17, the Speaker pledged exhaustive consideration of Ford. He was echoed by Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey, whose House Judiciary Committee will hold hearings.

Only Rep. Robert Sikes, a conservative Democrat from Florida urging quick approval, broke the facade of unanimous support for the Albert-Rodino procedure at Wednesday's caucus. But beneath the facade was a split of potentially historic significance, not fully perceived by most Congressmen and totally missed by the White House.

In pledging careful investigation, Albert and Rodino meant full scrutiny of Ford's moral, ethical and financial background before consenting to the President's selection. In saying the same words, militantly liberal Congressmen meant something quite different: full congressional parity with Mr. Nixon in filling the vice presidential vacancy under the 25th Amendment.

The latter viewpoint was put forth at the caucus by Rep. John Moss of California, a senior Congressman often aligned with the fire-eaters. He argued that Ford's qualifications must be judged. Another veteran liberal, Rep. John Dingell of Michigan, indicated he might oppose Ford on ideological grounds.

Rep. Donald Fraser of Minnesota summarized this viewpoint by asking Dingell: Was there anything in the 25th Amendment requiring a Congressman to approve someone he does not want to become president? Of course not, Dingell replied. Indeed, Fraser regards Ford's conservative civil rights record as more relevant than the current FBI investigation of his personal life.

In the cloakroom, this position is illuminated by Rep. Robert Drinan of Massachusetts, the priest turned fire-eating politician. Suppose, he says, George McGovern had been elected President and Sargent Shriver later resigned as Vice President? If McGovern named Angela Davis as Vice President, would Congress not reject her on ideological grounds?

Such logic is rejected by most Democratic Congressmen, perhaps two-thirds of Wednesday's caucus, who believe Drinan and friends are improperly trying to repeal last year's presidential election. But the House Judiciary Committee has become a redoubt for the fire-eaters with full 10 of its 21 Democrats (including the ineffable Father Drinan) considering themselves "young Turks." By demanding Ford's views on all Nixon stands (including the secret tapes), they intend to prevent final action this year.

By year's end, they expect, Mr. Nixon may well have defied a Supreme Court order to surrender the tape recordings and be the object of impeachment proceedings. In that case, Ford's nomination would be frozen.

The permissive Albert ordinarily might not prod the Judiciary Committee, but on this issue he is extremely sensitive to accusations of stalling Ford's approval so he can remain Mr. Nixon's constitutional successor. That ultimately may be what underlies the audacious scheme in the House to seize the presidency.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

A Guided Tour of London's Loo

I am, I confess, a devotee of a magazine called "Town and Country." I read it to find out what the one per cent at the top is doing. It is, as you know, so ultra high society that it is the only publication which has an R.S.V.P. Editor — Susan B. Westerfield. It also features advertisements of diamond-encrusted watches with no price tags.

Where else? Well, pull up a couch and permit me to tell you that this month "Town and Country" caused me to arch a brow (the left one; the right is arthritic) when it used the word "loo." Now loo may mean nothing to you, but I may hint that it is a synonym for john, lavatory, gen., or, if you live in Brooklyn, toilet.

Jonathan Routh wrote a special section called "A Singularly Biased Guide to the Pleasures of London." I've been around London, and vice versa, several times and I jumped with joy when Mr.

Routh penned portraits of The Savoy where "the fox-trotting and waltzing in evening dress is quite hilarious."

And Browns Hotel, that exclusive and dismal stack of stone with nothing in the cracks. And Claridge's, where it is said that you require a note of introduction to the assistant manager before they will tell you if they have a vacant room.

On and on I went, the gaffly of scented memory, snickering with snobbery until I read: "For the purposes of this Guide I am assuming that you know London a little, or even quite a lot. Thus I am dispensing with oversimplified information concerning the whereabouts and opening hours of Palaces, Cathedrals, Monuments and the like, and instead, bringing to your attention the lesser-known fact that London possesses many of the finest public lavatories in the world."

"Visits to some of these establishments will show you London in a totally new light as well as greatly adding to your comfort during your stay."

"A Briton seeking a lavatory may enquire where the loo is." If he asked in our house he'd get the standard response: "Sorry, we're fresh out of loos." An Englishman, I gather, is lost without a loo to his name.

"The public loo in the middle of the road (in the MIDDLE of the road?) in High Holborn is the one normally pointed out to tourists as a fine example of an old-established public lavatory. Its stair rails are the most shone brass in Holborn. It has a commemorative stone testifying to its opening by the City Commissioners of Sewers in 1893."

"Each fine mahogany door bears a splendid brass-and-glass mechanism for spending your penny in, and the attendant insists on opening the door for you, then showing you round your room, at the same time putting finishing touches to the already immaculate cleaning." Being of a naturally suspicious nature, I would keep a bead eye on that attendant.

London, I gather, is lousy with loos. There is one at the Bank Underground station which features "Ladies cubicles arranged in a pleasing crescent pattern." Frankly, my friend, if you've seen one loo...

But no. There is Dr. Johnson's Loo at 18 Gough Square. "At first sight," Mr. Routh writes, "it seems hardly worth it on account of the fact that Dr. Johnson does not appear to have needed a loo."

"If you're interested in what he did use, lift up the hinged lid of the window seat on the second floor and deduce what you like from the fact that it is lead-lined and fitted with tap and waste pipe." Leading where? Not, by God, into the garden!

Everyone knows that heads were lopped at the Tower of London, but no one seems to have dwelled on the attitude of the royal condemned, who, at the mere thought of what lay ahead, would need more loos than practically anybody.

The tourist toiletteer will be especially interested in the loos at the Houses of Parliament, which are, of course, wryly referred to as the seats of power. "There is also a Gents off the Members' Waiting Hall, available to the public whether Members are sitting or not" — such a comfort.

The historian within me is pained to note that Sir Walter Raleigh, who was executed in the Tower of London on Oct. 29, 1618, spent his last penny getting into the loo. What happened to British sportsmanship? ..

TWINS ARE INSTANT REPLAY

THE GOSSIP COLUMN by ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

RIGGS: Love all.

Q: I hear that Nelson Rockefeller is selling his paintings to Shana Alexander for Life. He finance his next Presidential campaign. How can anyone that rich do such a bizarre thing?—M.E.M., Washington, D. C.

A: It takes a lot of lucre to run for any important political office these days, and Presidential campaigns require almost as much money as building a jet airliner. Furthermore, the governor's family refuses to cough up any more because the other Rockefellerers do not like the limelight as much as he, and are additionally embarrassed by his row of political setbacks on the national scene.

Rigged for Tennis: Would ABC-TV have permitted any of Bobby Riggs' fanatical girlfriends to act as commentators in the Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs match in Houston? Of course not. So likewise, a lot of soreheads are now saying that ABC-TV shouldn't have let Billie Jean's over-admiring close friend, Rosemary Casals, act as a commentator either. (And, wow, does ABC ever wish they hadn't. The mail is irate and the inside gossip is even worse.)

Q: A couple of weeks ago you carried an item about the Hare Krishna sect. I've seen these people on the street and am fascinated by them. Do you have anything new on them?—E.K., Zanesville, Ohio.

A: We are fascinated by them, too. Hare Krishna's negotiations for the Columbia University Club and the Overseas Press Club building have apparently fallen through, but they are building an entire university near Calcutta, India. These folks, who pursue an ascetic way of life, are active in a number of commercial enterprises (including publishing and the sale of incense) and gross more than $6,000,000 each year. They trace their religious roots to ancient Hindu scriptures.

Q: I read in McCall's that Truman Capote is the only person to whom Marlon Brando has "broken his silence in 20 years" to give an interview. Is this true? I have a bet that says no.—H. E., Cincinnati, Ohio.

A: You win. McCall's was bragging just a little. The Capote interview took place in the late Fifties and Brando was enraged by it. Far from Capote being the only reporter Brando has seen, he more recently was interviewed by three people at Newsweek, including Charles Q: Why did Agnew protest his innocence so loudly only to give up days later? What did he hope to gain? — M.E., Miami, Okla.

A: Well, the ex V-P hoped public opinion might swing to his side and influence Congress to take up his case, thereby removing it from a jury trial. But pragmatically, he also hoped to hold out the three more months needed to qualify for his $15,000 a year civil service pension. Instead, Agnew has a $22,000 refund coming on what he paid into the uncompleted retirement fund.

Marching-on Dept.: Why the attack of nerves over in the staid old Time-Life building? Because the old timers who believed in the sanctity of such "respectable" magazines as Time, Life, Fortune and Sports Illustrated can't quite believe that the company is about to put out a semi-sensational effort called "People." The first issue was test-marketed in sections of the U. S. with overwhelming success, though its place on newstands next to the movie mags along with its "typewriter" type, offended the esthetics of almost everybody at Time, Inc. However, money is money and it looks as if "People" may become a fixture.

Indian Leader Buried Near Wounded Knee

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — American Indian Movement leader Pedro Bissonette was buried Tuesday, a short distance from where he was shot to death, and just a few miles from where he led a 71-day armed occupation of the historic encampment of Wounded Knee.

An uneasy calm covered the area as 500 persons filed through the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation to pay their final respect to the 29-year-old Indian.

Bureau of Indian Affairs police, who shot Bissonette to death last Wednesday while trying to serve two fugitive warrants, patrolled the reservation today, saying an uneasy peace prevailed.

"They are really digging out there," Lyman told UPI Tuesday night. However, as of early today no incidents had been reported.

Local BIA police, beefed up by additional BIA security forces brought in from other reservations, clamped a tight security ring around the reservation. It was still in effect today.

Bissonette's body was carried to its grave in a battered pickup truck after a simple

Roman Catholic Mass at the Holy Rosary Mission. Those attending the services included Dennis Banks, who obtained a court order forcing Pine Ridge officials to allow him onto the reservation for the funeral.

"Pedro is fighting the same battle Indians are all over the world," Banks said, "fighting to remain Indians... nothing more, nothing less."

Banks urged those attending the services to disperse peacefully because of the presence of BIA security force.

Children's Library Is Open Again

KINGSTON The Children's Library, closed late last week after a three-week assault by school-aged vandals, reopened Tuesday afternoon with new windows and new doors. Library officials now are waiting to see if the same old problems occur again.

Investigation

City detectives are investigating a burglary which occurred during the day, Tuesday, at the residence of Mrs. Irene Brown, 148 Millers Lane. Entry was gained by breaking the glass in a rear door, detectives said.

Nineteen of the library's windows, smashed over a three-week period by rock-throwing teenagers, have been replaced by stronger, and hopefully unbreakable, plexiglass. The front door and the back door of the library have also been strengthened.

Jury Issues Guilty Verdict In Armed Robbery Retrial

KINGSTON pending a report of the Probation Department. Assistant District Attorney John T. Dall Vechia prosecuted the case for The People. Dibble was charged with having forcibly stolen money from Cornelius Salata at his grocery store on Rt. 213 and Canal Street in Eddyville in March of 1972.

The jury, which began deliberations about 2:30 p.m., returned with the guilty verdict at 4 p.m. The trial was the second for Dibble whose first trial in January of this year ended in a hung jury after three hours of deliberation.

County Judge Raymond J. Mino set Nov. 14 as the date for a pre-sentence conference.

Salata, who now resides in Phillipsburg, testified that Dibble entered his store on March 9, 1972 at about 8:45 p.m. and asked Salata to "Give me all the bills in the register." He also alleged that Dibble displayed what appeared to be a pistol wrapped in a white cloth with the tip showing.

Dibble is alleged to have stolen $70, demanded silver coins in the register, left the store and to have driven away in a yellow automobile.

Town of Ulster Police are investigating the blaze, Williams said.

LAKE KATRINE A fire of undetermined origin which began in an unoccupied apartment at the Lake Katrine Apartments Tuesday afternoon, resulted in damage to five surrounding apartments and kept Ulster firemen busy for more than five hours.

Firemen were called to the scene at 2:47 p.m. where they found the unoccupied apartment fully involved. According to Ulster Fire Chief William Williams, five surrounding apartments, three of which were occupied, sustained heat and smoke damage.

Some 40 firefighters from the Ulster and Ruby fire departments doused the blaze which began in the kitchen area of the first floor apartment in the two story structure.

Firemen were forced to rip up flooring in the apartment above that in which the fire started in an effort to get at the blaze which continued beneath the floorboards.

Williams said firemen helped residents of the building, which he said contained eight vacant apartments in the complex after the fire was put out.

One fireman, identified by Williams as Martin Slattery, was overcome by smoke and was treated at the scene by Doctor's Ambulance.

Conditional Discharge Is Sentence

KINGSTON Joseph Borelli, 19, of 24 West O'Reilly Street, today was given a six-month conditional discharge and placed on probation for three years after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of criminal mischief in the fourth degree. City Judge Hubert A. Richter presided.

Borelli was arrested Aug. 27 by city detectives on charges of third degree arson, in connection with a fire May 7 at a portable toilet on the property of the new Salvation Army headquarters on Cedar Street, and falsely reporting an incident in connection with a false alarm.

In other action in City Court, a charge of aggravated harassment against Garry Stafford, 30, of 180 Delaware Avenue, was dismissed "without prejudice" after the complainant failed to appear. A dismissal without prejudice means the case can be reinstituted should the complainant so choose, according to the court clerk. Stafford was arrested on the charge after he allegedly made several phone calls to a Kingston woman July 13.

Uganda Head Has Nationals Arrested

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI) — Responding to reports of a planned commando invasion of Uganda, President Idi Amin Tuesday ordered all American or British nationals without identification cards arrested and kept in military custody. Radio Uganda said.

The order came after a military spokesman reported a combined force of American, British and Israeli commandos were planning to invade Uganda "any time from now."

(In London a Foreign Office spokesman dismissed the allegation as "utter spiffle.")

The military spokesman, quoting "reliable information" from Britain and the United States, said the force planned to stop and refuel in Kenya without the Kenyan government's knowledge and then mount its surprise attack, according to the radio report.

The woman, 30-year-old Irma Jones of Brooklyn, received first and second degree burns on her face, hands and body. She was reported in fair condition at Kings County Hospital.

Police later arrested Samuel Mirabile, 49, of Brooklyn and charged him with attempted murder and arson.

The woman, 30-year-old Irma Jones of Brooklyn, received first and second degree burns on her face, hands and body. She was reported in fair condition at Kings County Hospital.

Police later arrested Samuel Mirabile, 49, of Brooklyn and charged him with attempted murder and arson.

Mirabile is a collection agent for the Transit Authority. Police said the woman told him last week she no longer wanted his company.

AARP Celebrates Birthday

PORT EWEN
Ulster County Chapter 975, American Association of Retired Persons, celebrated its second birthday recently with a dinner party at the Capri Restaurant in Port Ewen.

Joseph Lorenzo, chapter president, in his welcoming speech noted that 35 members of the Dutchess County AARP chapter had joined with approximately 100 members of Chapter 975 for the birthday observance, commemorating two years in which the Ulster County group has grown to 900 members and seen a second chapter organized recently.

Herbert Frost served as master of ceremonies and led members in an impromptu floor show that included the Charleston, the hula, polkas, conga lines, and other dances to the music of Papa Bear and his accordion. The informal festivities concluded with a community sing.

Citing the chapter's motto, "To serve and not be served," Lorenzo said that the policy of holding Sunday family dinners had been highly successful. He noted that the chapter had a long waiting list of persons anxious to join, and said it had been a factor in the decision to form a second chapter.

Coming events include the regular monthly meeting Nov. 5 at the Inter-County Savings Bank in New Paltz, beginning at 1 p.m., at which George Habering, director of the Kingston Social Security office, will speak; a Dutch treat dinner on Nov. 11 at the Williams Lake Hotel in Rosendale, beginning at 1 p.m.; and a charter bus trip on Nov. 28 in which two busloads of members will travel to New York City for a performance of "Molly," starring Kaye Ballard.

Four Rotron Appointments

WOODSTOCK In keeping with its new divisional program, Rotron, Inc. of Woodstock has announced four key management appointments.

Clyde J. Deavers has been named vice-president-general manager, Commercial Products Division. John W. Bolt is now general manager—Custom and Industrial Products Divisions. William G. Sloane is appointed vice-president—Procurement and Plant Services. The Advanced Product Development Department will be headed by Dr. Robert J. Pirih.

Implementation of divisionalization along product manufacturing lines began at Rotron on July 1, 1973. Rotron management decided that its business would lend itself to more efficient management if divided into three product divisions. Each division will have as much autonomy as possible, i.e. personnel, staff, resources and profit responsibility. Thus, fans—mass produced—are manufactured by the Commercial Products Division. The Custom Products Division is responsible for products made to military specifications for the aerospace and communications markets. The Industrial Products Division specializes in those products sold for industrial materials handling and environmental control applications. Products of all divisions will be sold by the International Marketing Division. The new Advanced Product Development Department will report at the corporate engineering level and will have as its mission the development of new technologies and products relating to the new product divisions, as well as projects which might result in the formation of new businesses for Rotron.

president said: "It is my belief that we can increase our effectiveness and provide a better climate for the growth of our business if we divide it into its natural pieces. To provide additional capacity for our present rapid growth, and to accommodate the divisionalization program, we are constructing additional office and manufacturing space at our Woodstock facility."

Deavers came to Rotron in February 1969 as vice president—engineering. Previously, he had been manager of Industrial Systems and Equipment Engineering at General Electric's X-ray Division in Milwaukee. A graduate of the University of Maryland with a BS degree in Mechanical Engineering, Deavers is also a Licensed Professional Engineer. He and his wife, Jean, and their daughters, Patricia, Nancy and Judith, live on Cannon Circle in Woodstock.

Prior to his recent appointment, Bolt was Rotron's national sales manager for products sold to electronics industries. Before coming to Rotron in December 1971, Bolt has a long career in manufacturing and sales positions in the fan and blower of Olive industry with Morrison Products and the American Blower Division of American Standard. Bolt is a Purdue University graduate. He resides on Ohayo Mountain Road in Woodstock with his wife, Evelyn, and their three children, Craig, Patricia and Brian.

Formerly vice president—manufacturing, Sloane joined Rotron in 1970 after serving in management posts at Singer Manufacturing Company and the American Safety Razor Company. He holds a mechanical engineering degree from Worcester Polytechnical Institute. He resides in Woodstock with his wife, Shirley, and children, Amy and Carl.

Dr. Pirih joined Rotron in July 1972 as manager—New Product Development in the Product Engineering Department. His previous industrial experience included research and engineering positions with Douglas Aircraft and the Trane Company. Dr. Pirih received his Doctor of Science degree from Washington University in St. Louis. He also holds a BSME degree from the University of Maryland and an MSME degree from Cornell. He and his wife, Charlene, and their son, Christopher, live in the Town positions in the fan and blower of Olive.

County Realtors at Garden Home Show

NEW YORK Two area real estate brokers represented the Hudson Valley and Catskill Mountains recently at the first annual Home and Land Buying Show held at Madison Square Garden in New York City.

Frank E. Low, realtor of Woodland Valley, Phoenicia, and Chet London, broker, of Kerhonkson, operated a United Farm Agency booth at the Exposition. Both have United Yorkers and City tourists to Farm branch offices. United Farm was the largest real estate agency represented at the fair with more than 500 offices throughout the nation.

Besides representing their own company, however, the two brokers found they were also representing both the Hudson Valley and Catskill Mountain areas, since they were the only two real estate men from local areas.

The show was a first, and was intended to expose New Yorkers and City tourists to country properties, ecology and land development. Booths were maintained by builders, subdividers, real estate brokers, and land usage groups. Visitors could view house plans, acreage parcels, development maps or browse around for bargain prices among the representatives.

According to Low, questions were more basic and knowledgeable than "romantic" about country property ownership.

The two most pertinent and consistently asked queries were: "What is happening to bank mortgages upstate; is it possible to get any bank mortgage?" and "will country property prices stabilize, or will country land purchases soon be so high that average families can no longer afford a rural home?"

Low says that such questions are difficult to answer in these times of changing economy. "However," he adds, "we made every effort to be honest about prices, taxes, and the banking situation."

"Working with United Farm,"

says Low, "with national advertising and computer information made me realize early this year that too many urbanites are not aware of the realities of country property ownership."

"I believe this Exposition made thousands of people aware to the fact that town planning, ecology, state-owned land, and financial values are all intertwined factors now and must be considered as part of the rising cost of land and building."

Gilman Reports RR Running

WASHINGTON, D.C. The trains are moving again on the Wallkill Valley line of the Penn Central Railroad, after rail service was stopped Oct. 16 because of unsafe track conditions.

Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.) reportedly asked the Federal Railroad Administration to permit the railroad to continue operating on the line pending further hearings and possible legislation to help meet the railroad's financial troubles.

The FRA granted an interim order this week allowing rail service to resume on the 20-mile stretch of track between Montgomery and Kingston.

Gilman noted that there is a bill pending in Congress providing $85 million in emergency operating aid to railroads in the northeast. In view of this, and in light of possible additional aid from the pending Transportation Bond Issue in New York, Gilman said, "Any cessation of rail service at this time is premature and irreparable."

Noting that numerous large firms depend on the railroad for supplies and distribution, Gilman told an FRA hearing Tuesday that "The area's economy would be gravely threatened by any cessation of rail service at this time."

Penn Central has 30 days in which to file a detailed plan for the restoration of this line, and thousands of miles of track elsewhere, to safe condition, under the terms of the interim order.

Robison Co-Sponsors Compromise Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. the wake of a Presidential veto of an earlier bill which was sustained by the Congress.

"The first bill, which I opposed, would have raised the minimum wage to $2.20 an hour by next July 1 and did not provide for a realistic or workable youth differential.

"As one who recognizes that an increase in the minimum wage is needed and justifiable, it is my hope that the compromise proposal will gain quick passage by the Congress," the Tioga County legislator stated.

Robison said he is co-sponsoring the bill with Congressman James Broyhill, N.C. Robison and Broyhill co-sponsored the vocational rehabilitation compromise earlier this year which formed the basis for legislation recently signed into law by President Nixon.

The bill also provides for youth employment opportunities for those under the age of 18 or for full-time students through a wage rate differential. Young people could be paid at 80 percent of the applicable minimum wage, however, the bill protects full time adult workers from being displaced by students or young people under 18.

Robison said a compromise minimum wage bill is needed in

Rep. Seeking Fuel Allocation

WASHINGTON, D.C. Congressman Howard W. Robison (R-27th Dist.) has undertaken a "double-barreled" approach in his effort to obtain mandatory fuel allocation.

Robison has joined 35 Republican congressmen who wrote to President Nixon urging that he utilize existing authority to implement a mandatory fuel allocation program.

The veteran Tioga County legislator who represents part of Ulster County, has also introduced legislation which would direct President Nixon to im-

Savago Notes Founder's Day

KINGSTON Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) this week issued a public decree designating Saturday, October 27, as Founder's Day at St. James United Methodist Church, Kingston and urged recognition of this special event by the entire community.

Savago explained that "St. James United Methodist Church of Kingston is observing its 150th anniversary during the entire month of October."

"The observance will feature historical displays and a church history book depicting 150 years of religious and community involvement in the Kingston area."

"The Anniversary Program started Oct. 7 with participation in a World Wide Communion Sunday at the church."

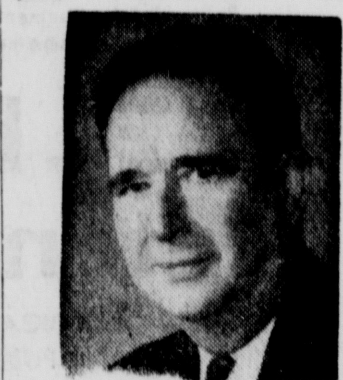

"The observance recognizes the tremendous impact of the church and its congregation, and its contributions to community life."

"Activities marking the observance will include a fashion show featuring clothing worn up to 150 years ago and musical programs including the Church Men's Choir, Catskill Glee Club, an organ recital and barbershop harmony."

"Also scheduled is a Founder's Day and Homecoming Dinner which will include the recognition of 50-year members."

Social Security Seeks Information Aid

KINGSTON
The Kingston Social Security office is asking for help in getting information to people who may be eligible for the supplemental security income payments that start in January for people with little or no income who are 65 or over, or blind, or disabled.

George J. Habernig, district manager, is requesting all organizations active with low-income people to "help us pass the word about supplemental security income."

Supplemental security is being publicized in newspapers and on radio and television. Habernig said. And people getting state and local public assistance payments because they're 65 or over, or blind, or disabled generally will be eligible for the Federal payments and don't have to apply.

"But we are still concerned that there might be people who will not hear or know about the program," he said.

"If you know of someone 65 or older who is in need, or a blind or disabled person, regardless of age, who needs financial help and they aren't getting public assistance now, please tell them about the new program. And suggest that they call the social security office to get more information."

Supplemental security income will establish a nationally uniform income floor for people in need who are 65 or over, or blind, or disabled. The amount of the payments they get will depend on how much other income they might have.

Eligible people with no other income at all will have a basic cash income of at least $130 a month for one person and $195 for a couple, according to Habernig. People in institutions or with other income may get reduced supplemental security income checks, he said.

Federal supplemental security income payments will be made by the Social Security Administration but financed by Federal general tax revenues — not by social security contributions, from workers and office is at 57 Albany Avenue. employers, Habernig said.

Priest-Lawmaker at Vassar

POUGHKEEPSIE
"Can any politicians be trusted?"
Massachusetts Congressman Robert F. Drinan, a Roman Catholic priest, will attempt to answer that question Oct. 28 at Vassar College.

A Democrat, Fr. Drinan was elected to the 92nd Congress and reelected to the 93rd. He is a member of the House Judiciary and Internal Security Committees and vice chairman of the Democratic Study Group Task Force on Constitutional Rights.

Educated at Boston College, the Georgetown University Law Center, and the Gregorian University in Rome, Fr. Drinan entered the Society of Jesus in 1942 and became an ordained priest in 1953.

Former corresponding editor of the Catholic weekly "America," the Vassar speaker is the author of "Religion, the Courts and Public Policy" (1963), "Democracy, Dissent and Disorder" (1969), and "Vietnam and Armageddon" (1970).

The congressman was dean of the Boston College Law School from 1956 to 1970 and was a visiting professor at the University of Texas Law School in 1966-67.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Association of American Law Schools and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The program will begin at 11 a.m. in the Vassar College Chapel.

Recreation Board is Selected

RED HOOK
Three new directors and two incumbents have been elected to the board of Red Hook Recreation Park.

Harold Field, Albert Fritz and Sally O'Connor are new directors, and Lawrence Hagen and Carl Poleschner resume their posts.

Park President Daniel Roch made mention of the late Norm Thomson as "a man of integrity, with sincere sense of concern for his community." Thomson played a key role in the park's major fund drive of 1968 and had actively promoted the park since.

Highlights of 1973 included a new daily attendance and season attendance record; Jaycees fishing contest; summer basketball; five teenage nights; two adult splash parties; one-day water festival; ground breaking for tennis courts; outdoor lighting installed, record number passing Red Cross swimming lessons.

Hoch said that plans for 1974 include repair to the barn roof; acquisition of an additional nine acres; holding an Overbrook School Day; building tennis courts; a track field day; a water basketball league; building ice skating oval and hockey rink; and completion of roadways and parking lots.

There are presently 254 family subscribers and 28 individual subscribers to the Rec Park. The $80 one year family subscription rate will be studied this winter for possible modification.

founded The Quarterly Review of Literature and has continued as its editor at Bard and at Princeton.

Awarded a National Foundation of Arts and Letters Grant in Poetry for 1967-68, Theodore Weiss has also been a juror in poetry for the National Book Awards and a member of the Bollingen Committee. He has published six collections of his poems, most recently The World Before Us in 1970. The Breath of Clowns and Kings: A Study of Shakespeare was also published in 1970.

Library Funds At New Record

WOODSTOCK—Woodstock Library Fair receipts are expected to top $10,500 it was announced this week by the Board of Trustees who gave recognition to the fair chairman Connie Weiss at its quarterly meeting. The funds raised are the most that has been made in the fair's 42-year history.

In other business, John Ebbs, president, presented a brief overview of the library to help acquaint new board members with library organization and functions.

Woodstock is a Free Association Library, with some of its funding coming from public sources, but most of its revenue dependent on private fund raising.

An explanation of income sources was prepared by Historian Frances Rogers. From a budget of approximately $30,000, $7,500 is estimated from the Library Fair. About $9,000 is received from public funds: the Woodstock Town Board, the Ontario School System, Mid-Hudson Library, and county revenue sharing. Membership dues accounts for $5,000 and the rest comes from dividends and interest, fines and rentals and other miscellaneous contributions.

Ebbs pointed out that with less than a third of the library's revenue coming from public money, there is a real need to find other sources of income if the library is to expand its hours, selection of reading material, and other community services.

Treasurer Lucille Kalish explained disbursements. The largest single item is salaries, over $18,000. Book purchases and maintenance each take about $4,000 with supplies and capital expenditures each accounting for about $2,000.

Reports from book chairman, Bob Plate; personnel chairman, Inge Langham; administration chairman, Karen Vos and by-laws chairman, Irwin Rosen filled out the seminar. During the discussion of the proposed revision of by-laws, the board voted to include the "Freedom to Read" statement of the American Library Association and the Association of American Publishers in the new library rules.

Curt Douglas was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Sylvia Grad. Douglas, who is acting controller of Ferroxcube Corporation in Saugerties, was also elected to head the budget and finance committee. Mary West and Valarie Martin were appointed co-chairmen of the membership committee.

The meeting closed with a brief report from Librarian Ellin Roberts.

Calico Theme For Fall Fair

WOODSTOCK—Preparations are underway for the November Fair to be held at the Overlook United Methodist Church in Woodstock on Nov. 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be a wealth of handcrafted items for the home, family and friends for holiday shopping, all with the theme of "Calico Christmas."

Mrs. David Sullivan, general chairman, has announced the following booth chairmen: house beautiful, Mrs. Kenton Knickmeyer; fancy work, Mrs. Robert Kurzawa; tea room, Mrs. Douglas Osgood; flower table, Mrs. Richard Drake and Mrs. Newton Shultis; toys, Mrs. Arnold Reynolds, stationary, Mrs. Woolsey Serven; children's room, Mrs. David Brush.

PATT Schedule, Officers Presented

SAUGERTIES—The first meeting of Grant D. Morse Parents and Teachers Together was held recently with Principal Patrick Buonfiglio welcoming the many who attended.

A slate of officers and committee chairmen were introduced by PATT President Ward Schelling as follows:

Jan Sepsey, vice-president and program chairman for school assembly programs and PATT program chairman; Edith Winter, secretary and publicity; James Meeks, treasurer and fund-raising; Nancy Lucente, special phone committee for fund raising; Juanita Anthony, membership chairman and teacher representative on PATT; Ann Augustine, refreshment chairman; Joyce Grossi, chairman of room mothers; Sharon Frederickson, historian. SECTION OF WEAKENED BASEMENT CEILING IN VOCATIONAL BUILDING.

KHS Reopens . . . Cracks 'Not Serious'

KINGSTON cracks" discovered in the Vocational Building last Friday was decided that the structure is in no danger of collapsing. After an inspection of the building Tuesday afternoon, it was decided that the structure is in no danger of collapsing and that the safety of the students would not be jeopardized.

The decision was made late Tuesday to resume regularly scheduled classes today. The already-crowded main high school building, which is located next door, will not be able to take on the 30 classrooms in the Vocational Building on a daily basis, and school officials said it would have been impossible to transfer all those students into the already-crowded main high school building, which is located next door.

Classes were cancelled at 9 a. m. Tuesday as a precautionary measure. Some 700 students use the 30 classrooms in the Vocational Building on a daily basis, and school officials said it would have been impossible to transfer all those students into the already-crowded main high school building, which is located next door. Now, according to district officials, engineers will attempt to determine what has caused the structural cracks, buckling walls and falling concrete. Consulting engineer Christos Larios, and another official, both theorized that ground tremors caused by nearby blasting operations may have weakened the foundation somewhat. It was also suggested that a high water table may have caused the ground beneath the Vocational Building to settle slightly. The Vocational Building was constructed in two phases in the early 1950's. The cracks have occurred where the two sections were joined.

Ineligibility Probe Continuing at UCCC

By CARL GRAHAM

Investigation of the use of an ineligible player on the 1972-73 Ulster County Community College basketball team received only passing mention at Tuesday night's public meeting of the college's Board of Trustees.

The matter apparently got a thorough going over at a two-hour executive session that preceded the brief public meeting, but the only public mention of the incident, came from Dr. George B. Erbstein, president of the college, who said that the investigation, headed by Dean of Students David L. Bartlett, will continue. Dr. Erbstein said that the school would make "necessary reforms" but did not elaborate on what reforms he felt were necessary.

Mrs. George F. Bushnell, chairman of the Board of Trustees, declined to comment on the matter. "Mrs. Bartlett has asked us to reserve our final decision until we have all the facts," she said.

An investigation by Robert Lake, director of Region XV of the National Junior Collegiate Athletic Association, has disclosed that a forged transcript had been used to indicate that Robert Miller, a forward on the basketball team, was a high school graduate when he actually lacked enough credits to qualify as a sophomore.

Although high school graduation is not required to enter the school, athletes taking part in interscholastic sports are required to be high school graduates. Lake has closed his part of the investigation, saying he does not feel that UCCC authorities were aware of the forgery of Miller's high school transcript.

Board members applauded fellow member Dr. William J. Hagerty when Mrs. Bushnell announced that he had been given the Distinguished Service Award of the State University Board of Trustees on his recent retirement from the faculty at the State University College at New Paltz, marking only the second presentation of the award.

Walter Bartlett, director of the college's computer center, gave the board a rundown on the possibility of tying in the college's computer with a proposed countywide computer system. Bartlett said the college's computer would be obsolete in two or three years and suggested a cooperative effort with the county.

Bartlett said that failure to join the countywide system would force the local school to go on a third shift for operation of its computer, and "we will not be able to take on larger programs than we now have."

Dr. Erbstein said that third-week enrollment, which is used for determining state aid, was 1,192 full time and 1,081 part time students, highest in the school's history, despite projections last spring that college enrollments would decline this fall. He said that 92.6 per cent of part time students and 83.8 per cent full time students are from Ulster County.

Dr. Erbstein told the board that attendance at the college's 10th anniversary celebration had been disappointing, but that the College Night held Oct. 16 had drawn more than 2,000 students and parents to the campus to meet with representatives of more than 70 colleges and universities.

The board voted a three-month sabbatical leave of absence for Dean of Faculty Robert J. Markes, effective in January, 1974, and signed a new contract with the Ulster Community College Association, which operates the cafeteria, bookstore, and other student services on campus.

County Lawmakers Hear Complaints on Welfare

KINGSTON Complaints and requests regarding welfare assistance in the county were registered with the Ulster County Legislature recently by Rosemary Valenzuela, a representative of the Ulster County Welfare Rights Organization.

Mrs. Valenzuela asked that the matters of housing, food stamps and caseworkers be looked into. Regarding housing she stated that rent schedules by the Ulster County Department of Social Services do not conform to the cost of rent welfare clients are forced to pay. Revisions are necessary, she claimed.

The welfare rights spokesman also suggested that the lack of available housing increases the problem of all people in the county.

Mrs. Valenzuela requested that the legislators meet with the Department of Social Services and the Department of Agriculture to work out a realistic system of allocating the amount to be paid for food stamps "since excessive rents cut down on the resources of the welfare family." She requested further that welfare checks be issued at the same time as food stamps.

Regarding caseworkers, she asked, "Why does the whole fourth floor of the County Office Building (Welfare Department) close at noon? She said help they can get immediate attention."

Kramer also explained that the welfare satellite offices do take intake information which is forwarded to the main office in Kingston for review to determine eligibility. He said the satellite offices are operated "as an accommodation" to the people but that those offices cannot give approval "on the spot" to applicants until their applications are reviewed by caseworkers.

Regarding the food stamp complaint, Kramer said that it is a federal program and that the only function of his office is to administer it.

Ms. Valenzuela also wanted to know why the welfare satellite offices are not handling intake information and she requested that the Legislature upgrade salaries of caseworkers so that "Ulster County Department of Social Services would not have mass exits of caseworkers to higher paying counties."

Social Services Commissioner Bernhardt S. Kramer told the Freeman that the welfare department is open during the noon hour. Although not fully staffed due to lunch periods, the reception desk is in continual operation and "if someone needs

Kennard-Farber Nuptials Are Held

MRS. MICHAEL FARBER
(Gail Frances Kennard)
(Di Modugno Photo)

Miss Gail Frances Kennard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene T. Kennard of 25 Greenwood Avenue, Mechanicville, became the bride of Michael Farber, son of Mrs. Sylvia Farber, 58 Guyton Street, Kingston, and the late Herbert Farber, on Sunday, Oct. 14. The wedding ceremony took place in Rensselaer Newman Foundation Chapel and Cultural Center.

The Rev. Ernest Autch, O.S.A., St. Paul the Apostle Church, Mechanicville, and Rabbi Julius Rosenthal of Hartsdale officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a white sateen gown, styled with a high neckline, lantern sleeves and Chantilly lace bodice. The A-line skirt, softly gathered at the back, featured a detachable chapel length train. She wore a matching mantilla of illusion veiling and carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids with pink roses.

Mrs. Patrick Topetro, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Attendants were Diane Farber, sister of the bride; Maria D'Amico and Janice DeCrescenzo, Miss Michele Topetro, niece of the bride, served as flower girls. The attendants were attired in gowns of printed sheer with plain chiffon bodices. The gowns were fashioned with high necklines, long puffed sleeves, Empire waists, and ruffled hemlines. Venise lace and ribbons trimmed the bodices. They carried bouquets of chrysanthemums and wheat.

Steven Farber served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Patrick Topetro, Elliott Gregory Mansfield and John Zurlo. Christopher Topetro, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. A reception was held at Century House, Latham.

Mrs. Farber is a graduate of Mechanicville High School and was employed at Albany Medical Center, Pharmacy Department. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School and Albany College of Pharmacy, is employed by Bongartz Pharmacy, Kingston.

After returning from a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pa., the couple will reside at Stony Run Apartments, Kingston.

Business Women's Week Designated by Koenig

Mayor Francis R. Koenig recently proclaimed the week of October 21-27 as National Business Women's Week in the City of Kingston.

Annually, since 1928, Business and Professional Women have celebrated National Business Women's Week, paying a nationwide salute to the achievements of all working women and their contributions to the economic, civic, cultural and business life of our communities and our nation.

This year, National Business Women's Week theme is "Concerns of All Working Women — Economic, Social, Political."

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was organized to elevate the standards for women in business and professions. In the course of its existence, this organization has done outstanding work in promoting the interest of business and professional women.

The Federation through its activities has increased opportunities for business and professional women, through education in scientific, industrial and vocational activities.

The Business and Professional Women of Ulster County has played a prominent role in promoting the interest and broadening the field of opportunity for business women in this area. All members have indicated pride in their leadership in many fields of endeavor and emphasize this pride in a half-century of achievements and promise of even greater contributions.

$1500 for Scholarships

Mrs. Betty Abu-Gheida, chairman of the 1973 dinner-dance for the Rondout Valley Scholarship Fund, Inc., announced the October 13 event netted $1,500 from tickets and donations. Mrs. Abu-Gheida said, "We are very grateful to all who helped our cause."

Approximately 160 persons attended the seventh annual fund-raising affair at Mohonk Mountain House. Arthur Chipp served as master of ceremonies. Arnold Gottesman, fund advisor, presented a resume of former scholarship awards and the careers of the recipients. Raymond Van Kleeck, chairman of the scholarship fund, made the 1973 presentations.

Daniel Rapoport was the only 1973 scholarship winner able to attend. The other wards were accepted by the parents or friends of Linda Coler, Trudy Hall, Jill Ryder and Bill Wilkins, the Bank Brothers Scholarship winner.

In reviewing past fund award recipients, Mr. Gottesman pointed out that of those who have had time to complete four-year degree programs, all are now college graduates. This 100 per cent achievement record attests to the high caliber of student the fund directors have selected.

Family Taught Not to Fear Snakes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Congratulations for standing up for the snake. I had a pet boa constrictor for many years and kept him until he became too big to feed, after which I gave him to the zoo.

I have taught our children to differentiate between poisonous and nonpoisonous snakes and encouraged them to hold snakes in their hands so that this irrational fear of snakes did not occur in my family.

Snakes eat rodents and insects, and are an important part of the balance of nature.
If we had more snakes, we would need less dangerous pesticides. Sign me...

HOUSTON LAWYER
DEAR ABBY: But we might lose a Roman Catholic priest. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Your defense of the much-maligned serpent was very thought-provoking, but there is another side to that story.

I am a Roman Catholic priest, and I have found that many otherwise quite "normal" people suffer from herpetophobia — the fear of snakes. It is no mere prejudice, biblical or otherwise, but actually a fear as deeply rooted and as difficult to treat as claustrophobia (fear of enclosure), acrophobia (fear of heights), or any other phobia.

Most herpetophobes will readily agree that their fear is entirely irrational, but that makes it no less real.

Some herpetophobes nearly have heart failure just coming upon a picture of a snake in a magazine. I know — I am one of them, and have been since before I even knew there was a Bible. I have no idea why I am this way, but I do know that if anyone tries to bring a snake into this rectory, I'm leaving!

A HERPETOPHOBIC
PRIEST

P.S. One fear I do not have is signing my name to Letters-to-the-Editor and the like, but this is one instance where prudence may dictate an exception. I will sign it, but please don't use my name in your column. There are too many clowns around here for comfort.

DEAR ABBY: I am a fairly attractive widow, living on what is laughingly called "widow's row."

I have been completely captivated by a retired Marine officer who lives next door to me. He is a widower and everything a woman could want in a man, but no woman seems able to attract his attention.

Many evenings I go to sleep listening to him play the piano. It's the most beautiful music I've ever heard, but it sounds so sad.

Those who know him say his wife died when they were both very young, and since then he has built a shell around himself that no woman has been able to penetrate.

Obviously, my problem is,
how can I let him know that I am interested in him?

NEAR AND YET SO FAR
DEAR NEAR: Invite him to join you in some special dinner. If he reciprocates, you may see the start of a good friendship, at least. After that — who knows?

CONFIDENTIAL TO
"KENTUCKY GIRL WHO NEEDS HELP IN IN-DIANA": Don't "hang around" hoping he might change. Have nothing more to do with him until he has "changed." Then, if you still care for him, resume the relationship.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest.

Spicy Apple Grape Mold

Apples are here — the new crop of early varieties is coming into the markets in all its color and beauty. Depending on where you live, you will find several of the following favorites: Wealthy,

Grimes Golden, Red and Golden Delicious, McIntosh, Jonathan and Cortland. Next month many more varieties will make their bow: Stayman, York Imperial, Rhode Island Greenings, Newton Pippins, Winesap, Spartan, and more. And this year the whole month of October will be dedicated to this beautiful fruit and dubbed National Apple Month. But during these last days of Autumn we are sure to have warm weather and that's when a quick, cool dessert will be welcome. This jellied apple and grape mold made with lime flavor gelatine and delicately spiced, is refreshing just to look at, cooling and delightful to eat.

Spicy Apple Grape Mold

Two pkgs. (3 oz. each) lime flavor gelatin
One-quarter teaspoon salt
One-quarter teaspoon cinnamon
One-quarter teaspoon nutmeg
Four cups boiling water
One and one-half cups pared diced apples
One-half cup halved seedless white grapes
Combine gelatin, salt, cinnamon, and nutmeg. Add boiling water; stir to dissolve. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold in fruits. Pour into six cup mold. Chill until firm. Garnish with sprigs of mint. Serve with cream mayonnaise. *Makes 8 servings.
*Half mayonnaise and half dairy sour cream.

Food Tips

You can top that cooked spinach with grated cheddar cheese instead of seasoning the vegetable with butter or margarine.

Use white pepper in a light colored sauce where specks of black pepper are not desirable. White pepper is nothing but black pepper husked of its dark outer shell.

Add a little finely grated carrot to a tuna mixture you're planning to use for tuna burgers.

Don't Make a Face - - Paint One!

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:
I suppose everyone who writes to you feels she is sending coals to Newcastle, but here goes:

Next week is Hallowe'en when youngsters go out to "trick or treat." Have them make their own face masks out of plain white paper or colored construction paper.

First cut an oval face shape. Punch a hole midway at each side, reinforce the holes with those white rings they use in their notebooks.

Cut a strong elastic band so you have one long piece and tie it through the holes to hold the mask in place. Finally, paint a face, using cotton swabs as brushes — and lots of bright colors, of course.

Sheila Rossi

Dear Heloise:

Every Hallowe'en all the neighborhood children end up at our house for cider and doughnuts so I try to make the occasion a little festive with a centerpiece on the table, and place cards for everyone.

I cut out large rectangles from heavy white paper, and fold them in half lengthwise. Then I paint a little orange pumpkin at the left side and letter the child's first name. They all love it because it makes them feel so grown up. Sometimes I cut pumpkin shape out of orange or brown construction paper, then letter on the child's name in a contrasting color.

Jo Paquin

Dear Heloise:

Our family likes instant coffee, and I've finally found a good use for the leftover hints from Heloise

Jars. I make my Christmas presents out of them! All it takes is a little paint and foil.

Last year I painted the tops red and green and filled the jars with bite-sized pieces of my own homemade fudge individually wrapped in red, green, silver and gold foil.

Philomena Corradeno

Dear Heloise:

When you are doing your fall canning, here's a way to label the jars so clearly that you can tell at a glance what's in them.

Paste on giant-sized labels in different colors and print the name in large letters.

Print "Green Beans" in green, "Tomatoes" in red, "Corn" in yellow (on a dark green label, for instance).

Cathy Titus

Dear Heloise:

When the kids get restless from being cooped up in the house on one of those rainy Saturday afternoons, I have two favorites which fascinate them: portrait painting and grocery bag hats.

Golda Meir . . . Sleeping Less, Worrying More

By EDITH M. LEDERER
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV (AP) — Premier Golda Meir has been sleeping less, worrying more and chain-smoking her usual three packs of cigarettes a day since Israel went to war 18 days ago.
She has spent the days and much of the nights of fighting in an unpretentious office in the Defense Ministry compound, getting home when she could to the two-family house she shares with her son in suburban Ramat Aviv.

Her only public appearances have been to visit wounded troops and thank American pilots who flew in arms and other military equipment. Otherwise, as one observer put it, "she's playing general to the generals."
The gray-haired, 75-year-old grandmother came from Jerusalem to spend Yom Kippur with her son Menachem, a cellist and the head of Tel Aviv University's Academy of Music, and his family.

Instead, she spent the most sacred Jewish holy day in the second-floor corner office at the Defense Ministry, making feverish preparations for the Arab attack that was developing.
Once war began, Mrs. Meir canceled all appointments and cleared her schedule for military matters and the political and diplomatic decisions arising from the conflict.

"All her thoughts are with the war, and she keeps to the office because that's where she's most needed," says Lou Kadar, her old friend and assistant.
The premier has kept to her usual 7 a.m. rising time and breakfast. With her bodyguards, Mrs. Meir makes the five-minute drive to her office and the hours of reading reports, attending briefings and holding meetings begin.

She likes to go home for lunch and a little rest, but the demands of running a war have often kept her in the office through lunch and dinner.
"She's a good eater and she likes everything," including the food from a 24-hour cafeteria in her office building, Mrs. Kadar said. But given the choice, she likes French or Jewish food, especially gefilte fish and borscht.

On normal days, Mrs. Meir gets home at 7 or 8 p.m., works on handicraft or attends a concert if she has no official engagements. But Mrs. Kadar said she has worked often until 1 a.m. and once until 3 a.m. since the war started.

In her few free moments, Mrs. Meir tries to keep track of her family. Fifteen of them, including her granddaughter's husband, are in the army.
"They are okay," said Mrs. Kadar, "but when we tell her about people we know whose sons have fallen, she takes it badly. But she goes on. She hasn't been nervous. She's worried like everybody, but she doesn't show it."

Desert Warfare . . . More Caution in Mideast War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new technology of the fourth Mideast war has made it certain desert warfare will never be the same again.

The classic picture of large numbers of tanks clashing freely across the sands and supported by low-flying fighter planes and infantrymen appears to be obsolete.

Those free-wheeling tactics, witnessed in the 1967 six-day Mideast war, have been replaced by the relative caution evidenced by both sides.

The need for more caution is one reason why the war has lasted 18 days instead of six. Take airplanes, for example. Nearly all of the approximately 100 U.S.-supplied F4 Phantoms, A4 Sky Hawks and other fighters lost by the Israelis were downed by Soviet-made ground-to-air missiles.

American planes were challenged by Soviet missiles in North Vietnam, but never at the low altitudes where Israeli jets attempted to support the Israeli counterattack against the initial Egyptian tank thrust across the Suez Canal.

The United States is known to have equipment which when installed in fighter planes can neutralize the radar-controlled Soviet missiles. It is not known how much of that equipment was supplied or in use by the Israelis before or after the new fighting began.

Another surprise to the Israeli tank forces were the appearance of Syrian and Egyptian infantrymen carrying Soviet antitank weapons on their backs.

By all accounts reaching the Pentagon, the RPG7s, as they are called, were fired with deadly accuracy by determined Arab troops. They often moved in advance of their own tanks to aim their weapons at Israeli armor.

In both cases, Israeli tanks were frequently slowed by the fear that they would encounter the Soviet-made antitank weapons even after Arab tanks had been destroyed in large numbers, Pentagon analysts say.

The effect, once again, was to make the Israeli attacking force more cautious and fearful than six years ago.

The late introduction of similar U.S.-made antitank weapons to the Israeli force is difficult to assess because the Israelis did not have them in numbers before the shooting began. But their presence is sure to cause equal caution by Arab armor commanders in any future Mideast combat.

Yogi Enjoys the Last Laugh

NEW YORK (UPI) —Yogi Berra, whose managerial career wasn't worth three cents a couple of months ago, enjoyed the last laugh Tuesday when he was given a new three-year contract with the New York Mets.

In keeping with Yogi's image as a "man of the people" with few pretensions, the man of the hour wasn't even present when the announcement was made by the Mets. Nor were there any TV cameras so often on the scene when high school kids are signed.

The man who managed the Mets to within one swing of tying or winning the World Series was out golfing in New Jersey.

"I said in the spring that we could win if we stayed healthy," Berra said. "We had one injury after another and we didn't put our tea on the field until mid-August. When we did, we started to win."

Relief star Tug McGraw sounded the Mets' battle cry. "You gotta believe" down the stretch but it was Berra who believed it for the full season. His new contract is believed to put him in the $75,000-a-year category and he is as secure as any manager in baseball.

Far from an original thinker as such famous managers as Casey Stengel, Leo Durocher, Charley Stengel and Dick Williams, Berra was an "easy rider" throughout the 1973 season. He never panicked even when the Mets were in last place in the National League Eastern Division in mid-August and some New York newspapers were calling for his scalp.

Then, the St. Louis Cardinals, Pittsburgh Pirates and Montreal Expos faltered and Yogi's Mets came on strong to tie for the division title on the last day of the season and win it by beating the Chicago Cubs the next day. Next came a five-game victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the NL Championship Series and the near-miss against the Oakland A's in the World Series.

It was only nine years ago — in 1964 — that Berra came as close to a world championship and was fired when the New York Yankees lost the seventh game of the World Series to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ironically, Berra was fired in 1964 for the same reason that he was retained this year—for giving the team an easy ride. The Yankees claimed Berra failed to win the World Series in 1964 for being too easy on the players. Yogi's critics were saying the same thing about him last August when the Mets were in last place.

A 285 game-winning hitter during his career with the Yankees, Berra was elected to the Hall of Fame last season. He has been the "fall guy" in a thousand-and-one jokes over the years since he first appeared on the major league scene in late 1946 but no one is laughing today.

THREE! — Yogi Berra, fired for winning a pennant nine years ago, got a far better shake the second time around Tuesday when the Mets rehired him for three more years at a "substantial" increase in salary. Here, Yogi relaxes on golf course in Haworth, N. J., after receiving the news. (UPI)

National Leaguers Head Baseball's All-Star Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Batting champions Pete Rose and Rod Carew, primarily singles hitters, and sluggers Willie Stargell and Reggie Jackson, leaders in home runs and runs batted in, were named today to the 1973 Major League All-Star team announced by The Associated Press.

National Leaguers dominated the voting, winning seven of 10 places on the squad selected by sports writers and broadcasters, but the NL champion New York Mets failed to land a player.

In the balloting based on regular-season performances only, Rose, the National League batting champion for the third time with a .333 average, was the top vote collector.

The hustling Cincinnati Reds' outfielder received 251 votes, 20 more than runner-up Stargell. Stargell, the husky Pittsburgh Pirates' outfielder-first baseman who led the NL in home runs with 44 and in RBI with 119, accumulated 231 votes.

Jackson, the pace setter of the American League and World Series champion Oakland A's, won the other outfield berth on the All-Star team with 200 votes. He won the AL home run title with 32 and the RBI championship with 117.

Carew, the Minnesota Twins' slick second baseman, led the infielders with 136 votes. Joining him in the infield were first baseman Tony Perez of the Cincinnati Reds, shortstop Chris Speier of the San Francisco Giants and third baseman Darrell Evans of the Atlanta Braves.

Johnny Bench, Cincinnati's irrepresible catcher, was the only repeater from the 1972 team. Ron Bryant of the San Francisco Giants, the only National League pitcher with at least 20 victories—he had 24—was chosen as the All-Star left-handed hurler, and fireballing Nolan Ryan of the California Angels, who set a major league strikeout record with 383, was picked as the top right-handed pitcher.

Hank Aaron, Atlanta's 39-year-old slugger who hit 40 homers for a career total of 713, only one short of Babe

PETE ROSE

Ruth's all-time record, wound up fifth among the outfielders with 124 votes. San Francisco's Bobby Bonds was fourth with 157 votes.

The 31-year-old Rose, NL batting champion in 1968 and 1969, with averages of .335 and .348, respectively, won the title this year by rapping out a major league-leading total of 230 hits, including 181 singles.

Carew, also winner of AL batting crowns in 1969 with a .332 mark and 1972 at .318, captured his third title with a .350 average, highest in the majors. He was the only American League player to collect at least 200 hits, finishing with 203, including 156 singles.

He beat out Atlanta's Dave Johnson for the second base spot by 29 votes. Johnson, after setting a major league record for second basemen with 43 homers, received 107 votes.

The closest vote was for right-handed pitcher, Ryan, with a 21-16 record in addition to bettering Sandy Koufax' seasonal strikeout record of 382, and polled 105 votes in besting National League strikeout leader Tom Seaver of the Mets.

Seaver garnered 86 votes, highest among the NL champions. Jim Palmer, Baltimore's 22-game winner, finished third with 71 votes, and Jim "Catfish" Hunter, a 21 game winner with Oakland, was fourth with 63.

Bryant received 88 votes in outpacing three other 20-game winners—Vida Blue and Ken Holtzman of Oakland and Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox—to win top honors for left-handed pitchers.

Bench, a .253 hitter with 25 homers and 104 RBI for Cincinnati's NL West Division champions, was a landslide winner as catcher. He got 184 votes, easily outdistancing Thurman Munson of the New York Yankees, runner-up with 57 votes.

Perez, fourth in batting in the National League with a .311 average in addition to hitting 27 homers and driving in 101 runs, received 90 votes for first base. John Mayberry of the Kansas City Royals finished second with 64 votes.

Evans, a surprising third in the National League with a career high of 41 homers plus a .280 batting average and 104 runs batted in, was tabbed the best third baseman on 119 ballots. Oakland's Sal Bando was next with 87 votes.

The slick-fielding Speier, a .249 batter with 11 homers and 71 runs batted in, collected 103 votes in winning easily at shortstop. Bill Russell of the Los Angeles Dodgers was a distant second with 53.

OLD AND NEW — Lee MacPhail (L.) walks from meeting room Tuesday with Joe Cronin after he was unanimously elected president of the American League. Cronin, president for 14 years, was elevated to chairman of the board of directors. MacPhail, now general manager of the Yankees, will take over on January 1. (UPI)

MacPhail Wants AL vs. NL Play

CHICAGO (UPI) —Lee MacPhail, new president of the American League, will try to foster inter-league play as well as cooperation in other phases of baseball with the National League.

MacPhail, 55, for five years president of the Baltimore Orioles, for three years an assistant in the baseball commissioner's office, and now general manager of the New York Yankees, was elected unanimously to succeed Joe Cronin as league president.

He will take office Jan. 1, ending Cronin's 14-year tenure in the job, and Cronin will step up to become chairman of the board of directors for the balance of his contract, two years, and perhaps longer.

When Cronin took office in 1959, the same course was followed by the previous president, Will Harridge, who became chairman of the board until his death.

MacPhail said he would work with Cronin in the interim until he takes office to study the problems facing the league and perhaps reach some solutions. He said the length of his contract has not been "finalized."

The Yankees announced the release of MacPhail with regret and said the club "could not

Finley Won't Let Williams Go to Yanks

CHICAGO (UPI) —Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley, who had said he would not stand in the way before, said today he had "no intentions" of releasing Dick Williams from the remaining two years of his contract.

Finley, a hard-headed businessman, said it he did change his mind, he wasn't going to give up his manager "for nothing."

Williams, who resigned Sunday as field boss of the A's after leading them to their second world championship in three years, was reported in line for manager of the New York Yankees.

Finley said he told Yankee owners George Steinbrenner and Gabe Paul he was "definitely not" considering releasing Williams.

"Long term contracts are designed to protect both parties, manager and club," Finley told UPI.

"Years ago when Washington gave up Joe Cronin to Boston, Tom Yawkey paid $250,000 for Cronin to manage for the Red Sox. A few years ago the New York Mets paid the Washington Senators $250,000 plus a player to get Gil Hodges."

Finley said, "I am certainly not going to permit some club to have Williams for nothing."

"I got a manager who has brought two world championships to Oakland in a row. Should I let Williams go to anyone, which I have no intentions of doing at present, they will certainly have to compensate me and compensate me handsomely."

Kevin Post Paces Statesmen

Coleman Harriers Stay Undefeated

KINGSTON much. Coleman remained undefeated and Statesmen Kevin Post continued his winning ways as Marlboro fell 20-38 at the Hurley Avenue course. Also in the A Division Red Hook trounced Ellenville, 15-49 and Fallsburgh stopped Highland, 22-33.

In the B Division, Rondout pulled a surprise by nipping

New Paltz, 27-28. Ontario roared past Liberty, 16-42, and Pine Bush defeated Walkill, 16-45.

Marlboro's Jim Erecg set out to beat Post. The Duke star set a fast pace and stretched a lead most of the way. Post rallied on the final hill, however, and blew home in 12:24 for another individual win.

Coleman's Tom Nee and Eric Schroeter, and Marlboro's Ed Cosman also caught the tiring Erecg who finished fifth.

Red Hook easily downed the Ellies, but the Raiders were heartened by more than just a victory. Dave Benkart began to show signs of strength and finished third behind team-mates Bob Arsenault and Mark Gravino), and Kevin Kilmer, who originally was thought to have broken a leg in a motorcycle accident, is showing signs of a fast recovery and just may be ready for Friday's showdown. Both Kilmer and Benkart will have to produce if the Raiders are to upset the Statesmen.

Joe Monks ran 14:13 at Fallsburgh for a first place, but it wasn't enough to hold off the Comets. Keith Mintz, a distant second, paced the victory.

Rondout busted up New Paltz's 1-2 to score the upset win. Lorenzo Simmons got his first for the Hugies in 13:08, but Mickey Sparling and a resurgent Fred Lopiano both slipped in front of the losers.

Charlie Bevier to pull it off. Lopiano's third-place 13:39 was two seconds faster than Bevier's fourth.

Mark Woodward appears to be back in form after missing some of the earlier season. He led Ontario in an unhurried 10:53. The Indians, a surprising third in the first all-league meet, may have to hustle to do it again, however. Rich Gross, who had paced the team most of the year, is down with an illness and may not be ready for a top effort in Shokan.

Jim Raymond clocked 13:41 to lead the Bushmen to victory, but coach Dan Brown had mixed emotions about the race and the future. He liked Greg Allen's fourth place 14:03—Allen is recovering from a knee injury and could be a big factor for Pine Bush—but he didn't care to think about Brian Shurter's problem. Shurter, a big plus for the Bushmen when he can run, still hasn't been able to shake his asthma condition and finished well out against the Panthers.

Gil Torio ran fifth for Walkill, and Alice Crawford gave the losers the fastest girls' time on the course, 15:32.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Matt Surina, a gangly pro from Longview, Wash., rolled a barrage of strikes at four straight foes Tuesday evening to capture the $5,000 first prize in the Brunswick Eastern Open Bowling Tournament, which started last Saturday with 184 entrants, wound up with the high five shooters battling it out on a regional telecast.

The 22-year-old righthander, whose only Professional Bowlers Assn. title came last fall in South Bend, Ind., took the measure of some of the game's top stars as he disposed of, in order, Dennis Swayda, Phoenix, Ariz.; Nelson Burton, Jr., St. Louis, Mo.; Barry Asher, Costa Mesa, Calif.; and Dick Ritger, Hartford, Wisc. The clincher came at the expense of Ritger, a 12-time champion who went into the finale as the top seeded pro by virtue of having led the 42-game preliminary. Score in the championship game was 258-214.

Surina, in pushing his 1973 earnings to over $22,000, began with a 242-190 drubbing of Swayda, seeking his first PBA crown. Surina's 214-194 conquest of Burton was his poorest effort of the evening, but by then he was in high gear and finding the strike zone was no trouble.

The mustachioed youngster started his tilt with Asher by tossing 10 straight strikes. He missed his bid for a rare perfect game on TV when he left the 10 pin on his 11th try.

His margin over Asher was 75 sticks as he won by 289-214.

That set the stage for the payoff game with Ritger.

Surina never lost his touch.

Here, too, he was on target, this time shooting strikes on his first six attempts. By the end of the sixth frame Ritger, who won $2,800, to put his bankroll at $42,000, was 44 pins down.

Surina, who was to roll 34 strikes in his four games, while averaging 250, wound up with nine strikes and coasted to victory.

The Knicks also announced Tuesday that second year guard Henry Bibby had been reactivated, and in order to make room for the two men on the 12-man roster the Knicks asked waivers on veteran guard Dick Barnett and rookie guard Allie McGuire.

Paltz Booters Zip Pine Bush

KINGSTON New Paltz High School's coach, Gene Ventriglia, called it a "whale of a game," and it took a whale of a goal to win it.

Visiting Pine Bush, an upstart, first-year soccer team in the Ulster County Athletic League, battled the Huguenots scoreless right into the final period Tuesday before Birch Taylor broke the ice to win it for the home team 1-0 and set a school record in the process.

In another Tuesday contest, Fallsburgh dumped Rondout, 4-2. Coleman stayed atop the league with a Monday win over Ontario, 2-0.

"Pine Bush is really an improved team," said an impressed Ventriglia after the game," but that goal by Taylor was one of the best shots I've ever seen in my life."

Taylor, a junior, took a pass with his back to the net, flipped the ball straight up, and wheeled to hit it still in the air. The driving kick caught the far corner of the Bushman goal at 14:38 of the fourth quarter.

It was Taylor's 17th goal of the season and sets a new New Paltz scoring record. It also lifted the Hugies to a 4-3 record on the year.

New Paltz outshot the Bushmen, 35-15 and held a 6-1 advantage in corner kicks. Goalie saves were 17 for Pine Bush and 10 for New Paltz.

Fallsburgh outscored the Ganders, but Rondout did just about everything else right. A 25-16 shots-on-goal edge and a 5-2 lead on corner kicks however didn't help the Rondout cause enough.

Norris Gilmore hit twice for the Comets in the first quarter of play. Steve Priest of Rondout, taking an assist from Jay Schaefer at 7:30, quickly neutralized the first shot, but Gilmore put the winners up to stay at 10:00.

It was a 3-2 game at halftime on second period scores by each team. Greg Davis increased the lead at the 12 minute mark, and Tom Barry converted a penalty kick at 17:00.

Terry Patton, taking teammate Chuck Hinton's fourth straight assist, locked it up for Fallsburgh at 9:30 of the fourth quarter.

"I don't think the score was really indicative of the game," remarked Rondout's Andy Lutz. "Fallsburgh just overpowers you right down the center."

Joel Sicker and Sean Roche combined to shutout Ontario while Vinnie Schell and Pete Conti assured the Statesmen's seventh straight win of the campaign. Schell hit at 11:45 of the second period, and Conti scored at 15:52 of the fourth.

The Indians kept the score respectable but were outshot 11-4 while taking their fifth loss in seven starts.

Opposition to the New York State Conservation Department's proposal to reduce the trout limit from 10 to a five bag limit on the Esopus Creek has come from the Ulster County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

Fred Faerber, president, said more than 125 fishermen have signed petitions opposing the move and he urges all interested persons to attend a meeting on the proposal Friday at 8 p.m. at the State Conservation Department facility in New Paltz.

Faerber said his organization's board of directors met Monday night and officially went on record in opposition to the reduction of the trout limit.

Marist Runners Extend Win Streak to Fifteen

The Marist College cross-country machine chewed up two more opponents here Tuesday and now has 15 consecutive victories this season without a defeat.

The Red Foxes swept a triangular from Nyack (25-34), and New Paltz State (15-49), even though they spotted their foes the top two spots in the individual standings.

Dave Billings and Paul Braun of Nyack took one-two in the race, with Billings finishing first in 24:14.4. But Marist swept the three through seven positions to earn enough points for victory.

Ace harrier Brian Costine led Marist in 25:35. He was followed by Fred Kolthay, Jay Doyle, Jim McCasland, and former Kings' High performer Bill Kimpel.

Jersey Sports Complex in Trouble

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — It would also build a similar arena in Queens.

Supporters of the proposed giant sports center in the Hackensack Meadows have withdrawn a $280 million bond issue to finance the project in five months.

They said Tuesday that they had to take the action because of an announcement earlier this month by New York State that awarding several major contracts, started talks in an effort to extend the bids.

Werblin also said the New York Giants, the football team which would be the main attraction of the 75,000-seat stadium, agreed to a deadline extension until Dec. 1 for marketing the bonds.

The New York challenge, regardless of its obvious defects and suspicious timing, did affect the sale of our bonds. It came at a time when the authority had already lined up more than $200 million of its bonds and then had to be halted because of the New York proposal," Werblin said.

The withdrawal of the bond issue, the second since June, followed an effort by New York State to fend off the potential

A League Without Teams

CHICAGO (UPI) — Tom Origer has a World Football League franchise and $4 to $5 million to build a winner—all he needs now is a team, a coach, a team name and a stadium with lights.

Origer, a crew cut contractor who builds apartments and condominiums in the Chicago suburbs, emerged Tuesday as the owner of the Chicago entry in the newly formed league which expects to begin playing Wednesday and Thursday nights next year with 12 teams in Canada and the United States.

Gary Davidson, commissioner and president of the new league, said "firm franchises" also were set for Los Angeles, Toronto, Honolulu, New York and Boston and additional talks were being held with "19 groups in 15 cities ranging from Mexico City to Vancouver."

An aide to Cleveland sports promoter Nick Mileti said Origer paid Mileti $750,000, or three times the original price, for the Chicago franchise. Mileti, the president of the Cleveland Indians, agreed to be a minority owner, partner and adviser to Origer.

Origer, a 1955 civil engineering graduate of the University of Illinois and an admitted Chicago Bear fan, estimated it would take crowds of 40,000 per game for his team to break even during the first year.

Both Origer and Davidson said there was plenty of playing talent around with only about 150 of the 7,000 graduating college football players making it each year with the National Football League.

The new league will feature at least three pro football rule changes—two point pass or run depending on distance, a single conversions, kickoffs from hash mark and some restriction to the line of scrimmage on passes.

"We're vigorously going after the best possible players we can get," Origer said. "I really feel we can fill whatever stadium we will be in."

Davidson said with the "exciting football," his new league would play "we feel the market can take 15 or 20 more

Trojan Gridders Quit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two former starters for the Southern California football team—linebacker Ed Powell and defensive tackle Glenn Byrd—have quit the team and Coach John McKay had no comment.

"I'm not with the team anymore," said Powell, who started the first four games but was put on the reserve squad er James Sims may not be able to play against Notre Dame at South Bend Saturday because of a sore ankle.

The Trojans worked out Tuesday against a simulated Notre Dame offense in preparation for Saturday's meeting between the undefeated college powers.

Derby Violator Is Fined $2,000

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The uncle of this year's disqualified All-American Soap Box Derby winner was ordered to pay $2,000 Tuesday to the Boys Club and was banned from derby participation for two years.

Boulder District Court Judge Horace Holmes issued the terms of the settlement Tuesday to Robert Lange Sr., who had been charged with causing his nephew to cheat. Lange's son won the 1972 derby.

The nephew, James Gronen, 14, was disqualified after an illegal speed gimmick was found in his gravity-powered racer following the race in Akron, Ohio. Derby officials said Gronen's racer had an electromagnetic device which gave it faster starts.

Judge Holmes said during the proceedings that he found it "almost unbelievable the lack of morality, both on the part of the child and the adult involved."

After the decision was announced, Dist. Atty. Alex Hunter said he was basically satisfied with the disposition of the case, "but my gut reaction is that Mr. Lange owes a tremendous apology to the young people of this country, especially to Jimmy Gronen."

Ralph Hardin of Fort Collins, Lange's attorney, told newsmen after the hearing that there was no question of any wrongdoing.

"Violation of derby rules is so widespread there really were no rules to violate and therefore could be no violation of the law," Hardin said.

"Jimmy Gronen has been unjustly singled out as the only rule violator in the 1973 race,"

Lange said after the verdict was announced. "In reality it has been stated by some reliable sources that over 67 rule violations were detected."

Lange, founder and former president of a ski boot firm, said he planned to take "affirmative action" in Akron against Derby officials, but he refused to elaborate.

"There is no question that Mr. Lange is not guilty of any criminal act," Lange's attorney said. "There is no way you can be guilty of a criminal act by violating so-called official rules which have never been enforced and which have been openly and notoriously violated with the sanction of Derby officials."

Hardin said the courtroom affair in Boulder was only a "border skirmish" and the war will be fought in Akron, Ohio.

Tennessee St. Leads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Taking advantage of Delaware's first loss in 21 games, Tennessee State moved in to first place today in The Associated Press' small college football poll.

Delaware's 20-game winning streak was stopped by Rutgers 24-7 last weekend, and the Blue Hens dropped to second place behind all-winning Tennessee State.

Tennessee State won its sixth game of the year, battering Florida A&M 45-0 over the weekend and received 27 votes for first place and a point total of 778.

The points gave Tennessee State, last week's second-place team, a comfortable margin over Delaware. The Blue Hens cornered only five first-place ballots this time and finished with 598 points.

Hawaii, fourth last week, moved to No. 3 with two first-place ballots and 567 points. The Rainbows whipped Puget Sound 39-7 for their fifth straight victory.

Cal Poly, also 5-0, slipped from third to fourth despite beating Fullerton State 21-7. A nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters gave Cal Poly six first-place ballots and 471 points.

Western Kentucky, 6-0, moved up a notch from sixth to fifth after a 35-0 thrashing of Eastern Kentucky. Western Kentucky, which replaced Grambling as No. 5, collected two first-place votes and 377 points.

The rest of the Top Ten included No. 6 South Dakota, No. 7 Wittenberg, No. 8 Louisiana Tech, No. 9 Grambling and No. 10 North Dakota State.

Wittenberg, Elon and Langston, Okla. were the other teams receiving first-place votes. Each got one apiece.

Dryer Player of Week

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If Fred Dryer ever finds whoever called him too thin to be a defensive end in professional football ... look out.

The guy will fare worse than quarterbacks Scott Hunter and Jim Del Gaizo of the Green Bay Packers.

"I'd really like to find him," the 6-foot-6, 235-pound Dryer said of the name hanger who claimed the San Diego State product was skinny and couldn't protect against the run.

Today, he really isn't looking for anyone because Dryer is too busy preparing for the battle of undefeated teams this Sunday—his Los Angeles Rams against the Vikings at Minnesota.

"You have to concentrate in workouts, concentrate even on the plane if it is an away game," explains Dryer, the man named National Football League Defensive Player of the Week for his play against Green Bay last Sunday.

Never in his history, dating back a half century to 1920, has the NFL had a player twice toss opponents behind the goal for safeties in a single game.

Dryer, slashing in from right defensive end, did it twice in the fourth quarter. First he slammed Hunter to the turf and then Del Gaizo.

"What I did really wasn't that much," the 27-year-old commented. "Our linebackers had shut down the Green Bay running game until it was nothing so we knew they'd have to fall back and pass."

"That made my job very easy. I didn't have to protect against the run."

"It's like a new life for me here because I've got three great men playing on the same line. We think like a wonderful unit."

This week the Rams face the job of trying to stop Minnesota's Frank Tarkenton and Dryer admits to a tough assignment.

But the Rams' front four has proven tough all season with Jack Youngblood at the left end, Merlin Olsen and Larry Brooks at the tackles.

Overall, the Rams limited Green Bay to just 63 yards gained.

Grantz Is Back of Week

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The Associated Press pick for the nation's college football Back of the Week would rather play professional baseball than football "if the opportunity came along."

But Jeff Grantz, elusive running quarterback for the University of South Carolina, showed his football ability Saturday by rushing for 260 yards in his team's 38-22 victory over Ohio University.

"I never really thought about professional football," declared the 5-11, 178-pound tricky speedster from Bel Air, Md., "because I'm pretty small."

Grantz, an infielder in baseball, said he was drafted by the Baltimore Orioles of the American League while still in high school, where he lettered in football, baseball and basketball.

"But I decided to go to college instead," he said. As for college football, "I like it so far. I'm small, but I haven't been hurt," he said. "I take a lot of bumps and bruises, but that's okay."

His statistics against Ohio University did not include an 85-yard touchdown run with a lateral after a kickoff. And Grantz added one pass, of four thrown, for 25 yards.

His eight touchdowns through six games this fall ties a school record, as does the three he scored last week in one game.

The 260 yards rushing was four yards more than the 1950 record set by the late Steve Wadiak.

Grantz has 1,045 yards passing and rushing, split about even, with a 5.5 yard run average on 100 rushes and 508 yards on 40 of 77 passes—plus that kickoff lateral return.

State Golfer Leads Seniors

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Wayne Rutter of Williamsville, N.Y., carried a two stroke lead into today's second round of the 16th annual North-South Women's Senior golf championship after an opening one under par 72.

She shot her 33-39 round over the Pinehurst Country Club's No. 1 course, one of three layouts being used for the 54-hole tournament with players moving to a different course each day.

Mrs. Rutter and the bulk of the first round leaders played the 36-37 par 73 layout measuring 5,400 yards from the women's tees. After three birdies on the front nine, she slipped to a pair of bogeys on the back.

Today's play for the leader was over the 5,317-yard par 72 No. 3 course, while others of the 167-player field toured No. 1 and the 5,838-yard No. 5 course.

Mrs. Carolyn Cudone of Myrtle Beach, S.C., the defending champion, was alone in second place at 74 after playing No. 1's first nine in even par and going one over on the back nine with a birdie and two bogeys.

Mrs. George Trainor of Rochester, N.Y., was third with a 38-39-77, while three players were tied at 80 and five at 81.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The last day of the waning Moon finds you all stirred up to try to force others to your will and desires, but any such pressures could be disastrous for you and others, so show you can maintain patience and do your job well.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You think that cooperation means forcing others to do what you like, but this isn't true. Listen to others; combine ideas, efforts justly, wisely. Avoid harangues.

Unattached and on her own, a woman was supposedly not even able to go to the movies or out to a restaurant by herself, let alone perform an appendectomy or drive a truck. It was up to us then to give them the value and the purpose that society at large withheld — by marrying them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get tasks done if you want time for amusements over the coming weekend. Creative labors could be really enjoyable now. Think and act decisively.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't kneedle kin into making improvements and repairs to your home; do it yourself. Use your fine artistic sense, but be practical. Avoid one who bickers.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Schedule time carefully and get routines done. Don't be short-changed or lose wallet shopping, doing errands. Evenings is fine for the social.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of spending more money, get busy and pay your bills, make collections. Discuss financial plan with an expert before pushing it through. Drive safely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although you may be under pressure, be sure you keep self-controlled or others can get the best of you. Plan a wiser social schedule.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 2) Instead of blasting others because you can't gain your aims quickly, get busy and iron out kinks in your operations. Aid those who come to you for assistance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Use tact with friends who're not quite up to par, or you could lose valuable alliances. Avoid some party where you are apt to get into trouble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get into civic work instead of criticizing big wigs and you become a better citizen. Make at least a part payment on bills that are outstanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to step out to new circles and interests, but first plan where, who and how. Forget differences with others. Be good to yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Although you want to make radical changes, keep promises and get them behind you. Show understanding for mate who is not feeling up to par.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those extremely active young people who could prove very difficult for others to keep up with. See to it that the energies are channeled in right directions for a big success ahead, otherwise you could easily have a big troublemaker here instead. winds up going one down.

There is a more sophisticated play available. He leads the jack of clubs first. If West plays the queen he ducks in dummy and winds up with four club tricks which are enough. If East holds the queen and takes it, South again collects those four luscious tricks in clubs.

Now let's see what happened when everyone at the table was a master player. South won the second spade and went after hearts. Clubs could wait.

West took his ace of hearts and led another spade.

South cashed the rest of his hearts and West discarded the deuce of clubs. Then South led that club jack and let it ride, but East held back his queen.

South did the best he could. He let his king hold the next trick and led out his 10 of diamonds. This rode around to East's jack. Back came a diamond and South could only score eight tricks.

The same eight tricks that an ordinary declarer would have scored against ordinary defenders.

BIG BROTHER: (Q) I am in the same grade with Tom. He and I are 14. Cindy is his little sister. She is 13. I don't much like Tom. He puts me down. I like Cindy. But she sees Tom giving me a hard time and does the same.

Please don't ask me to fight Tom. I am not a muscle man.—Losing in Louisiana.

(A) I never advise either boys or girls to fight with their fists. I usually urge the opposite. You, too. Make a friend of Tom. You can.

Find what studies, sports, hobbies he likes. Talk to him about these. He will be so interested he will forget to give you a hard time. He also may build you up with Cindy.

Being friendly with Tom won't be unfair. Being friendly is one of the important ways people get things done in this world.

AGGRESSIVE: (Q) Ted thinks he is "Lance Romance" with girls. He is just five feet tall and all the other boys are bigger, so he thinks he can get away with murder. What should I do?—Suffering in South Carolina.

(A) Shorter boys tend to be more aggressive to make up for their lack of height. Ted sounds to me like a boy who is trying very hard to win acceptance. As long as he is not too gross, try to be understanding. When or if he is too gross, treat him as you would any boy who gets out of line.

Surprise Announcement Startles Nation

Several Factors in Nixon's Decision on Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — At midday Monday, surrounded by the sounds of miscalculation, President Nixon slowly climbed the steep steps of the Executive Office Building.

Often in the past he had bounded up the steps two at a time. But now he was burdened with perhaps the worst crisis of his presidency, and he was heading for his hideaway office to search for a solution.

From Pennsylvania Avenue, 50 yards across the lawn, the President could hear the blaring of automobile horns as motorists responded to a demonstrator's "Honk for Impeachment" sign.

It was a raucous reminder that his earlier decision to seek a compromise on the Watergate tapes — a decision he hoped would bring a national sigh of relief — had instead brought what an aide called "some kind of a nightmare ... a fire storm."

"A miscalculation," his White House counsel now bluntly calls the decision to force through a resolution of the month-long tapes dispute.

Twenty-four hours after his walk up the steps of the office building, Nixon reached another decision. He would capitulate and surrender the Watergate tapes and documents to a federal judge — an abrupt turnabout announced in court Tuesday afternoon.

From presidential aides and other official and unofficial sources, the events leading to Nixon's turnabout can be reconstructed. The sources indicated these were the major factors leading to the President's decision:

—A warning by leading Republicans in Congress that he faced a serious impeachment effort and that even some faithful Capitol Hill followers were reluctant to defend him vigorously so long as he refused to release the tapes.

—A recognition that the public outcry resulting from the firing Saturday night of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox was much greater than had been expected, and that it was overshadowing his agreement to allow limited access to the tapes.

—High level concern that the domestic turmoil was damaging efforts to negotiate an end to the Middle East war and was hurting the President's image as a world leader.

Nixon's decision to turn over the tapes for inspection by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica was made at about noon on Tuesday and came as a stunning surprise to even some of his closest aides. "I was thunderstruck — I couldn't believe it," said one aide, who has in the past prided himself on an ability to read the presidential mind.

Alexander M. Haig Jr., Nixon's chief of staff, was among the few aware of the President's movement toward capitulation on the tapes issue. He said the decision was reached "after very painful and anguishing discussion."

On Monday, Oct. 15, Nixon had decided he would attempt to resolve the tapes issue, which, according to Haig, "had progressively begun to polarize our body politic."

"Lines were clearly being drawn both within the Congress and ... within the viewpoint of the American people themselves," Haig said.

So, as time began running out on Nixon to file his notice of appeal to the Supreme Court, he came up with a compromise: He would personally prepare a summary of the nine tapes, have it verified by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and turn it over to both Judge Sirica and the Senate Watergate committee.

According to presidential aides, it was clear by Thursday that Cox would not go along with the compromise, and Nixon decided Friday morning that "we should attempt to resolve this dreadfully controversial issue ... with or without Professor Cox," Haig said.

Cox announced he would not accept the White House proposal. Cox was fired, Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson resigned, and Deputy Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus was fired.

First reaction was quick. By the time Nixon awoke Sunday morning, his staff had compiled a 26-page special report tracing reaction in Congress and in the media. The condemnations were harsh, the words of support few.

'Would Have Done the Same Thing'

FAMILIAR SYMBOL — Under the clasped hands symbol of the AFL-CIO, Senator Hubert Humphrey shakes hands with the labor organization's president, George Meany (L), after Humphrey addressed the last day's session of the national convention in Miami Beach, Fla. Humphrey, a long-term labor supporter, called for a new special Watergate prosecutor. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — because "the situation is fraught with great difficulty for him."

"If you were in Mr. Cox's shoes, sir, would you have done the same thing?" a reporter asked Richardson during the 65-minute news conference in the Great Hall of the Justice Department.

"I would have done what he has done," Richardson replied. Ruckelshaus echoed the same sentiment in his news conference later in the National Press Club.

Richardson, 53, who has served in three Cabinet posts in the Nixon administration, said he plans to take some time off "to compose my thoughts and perhaps put some of them down on papers."

Ruckelshaus said he had no plans other than to "go home and cut the lawn." His wife, Jill, a leader in the women's movement, will keep her White House job.

Both men had—and perhaps still have—bright political futures. Richardson was elected lieutenant governor and attorney general in Massachusetts in the 1960s, and Ruckelshaus was an Indiana Legislature leader. Neither gave any hint of politics Tuesday.

Former Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and his deputy, William D. Ruckelshaus, both say that had they been Archibald Cox, they, too, would have pressed the issue of the Watergate tapes.

The White House Tuesday portrayed Richardson and Ruckelshaus as men caught in "personal dilemmas," but Cox as one who "defied a direct order of the President."

All of them had their say to reporters Tuesday about the events of the weekend in which Richardson and Ruckelshaus quit over the White House firing of Special Prosecutor Cox.

Although White House chief of staff Alexander P. Haig said Richardson and Ruckelshaus were "justified" in their resignations, the two former administration stars differed with the White House on several matters involving the Watergate case.

Richardson and Ruckelshaus said they believed an independent special prosecutor was still needed, not because of a lack of integrity of Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen, who will handle the case, but

Why Archibald Cox Fought So Hard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What is so important in President Nixon's Watergate tapes that made Archibald Cox fight so hard to get them that he wound up being fired?

Apparently no one except the President and his former top aides, whose voices are recorded on them really knows. Asked recently if the tapes were vital for the grand jury, Cox shrugged and replied: "It's Mitchell that we find out if they're vital."

The tapes cover nine conversations Nixon had with aides. Here, from a summary Cox gave U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica Aug. 13, is what they contain:

—A meeting June 20, 1972, three days after the Watergate arrests, between Nixon and his two top aides, John D. Watergate Seven came down, between Nixon, Haldeman and then-White House Counsel John W. Dean III. Dean testified he believed from that conversation Nixon was aware of the cover-up. Cox said that if this is proved, "it will tend to establish that a conspiracy to obstruct justice reached the highest level of government."

—A meeting March 13, 1973, among Nixon, Dean and Haldeman in which Dean testified Nixon said he had approved executive clemency for one of the convicted conspirators and that there would be no problem in raising $1 million to buy the defendants' silence.

—Two meetings on March 21, 1973. The first involved Dean, Haldeman and Nixon. Dean testified he told Nixon there was a "cancer growing on the presidency" and told him the full story of the cover-up. The second involved those three as well as Ehrlichman and presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

—A meeting March 22, 1973, among Nixon, Dean, Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Mitchell that dealt solely with Watergate.

—A meeting of April 15, 1973, between Nixon and Dean at which Dean confessed he had begun cooperating with authorities and Nixon allegedly said he had been "joking" about the $1 million and had been "foolish" to discuss clemency.

House Inquiry Still Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee was to press ahead today with its inquiry into possible grounds for impeachment, despite President Nixon's sudden decision to release his Watergate tapes to the court.

A committee spokesman said the panel's plans are basically unaffected by Nixon's back down on the tapes issue.

Nixon acted Tuesday less than three hours after House leaders announced their decision to begin procedures that could lead to impeachment.

Nixon's dramatic decision to obey the order of U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica that he had so long resisted swung the emphasis in the impeachment question to what House Democratic whip John J. McFall of California called "the other half of the problem."

This is Nixon's firing of special prosecutor Archibald Cox and assigning of the Watergate investigation to a Justice Department deprived of the two top officials — former Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson and his deputy, William D. Ruckelshaus — who refused to go along with the dismissal of Cox.
